Fire at Madison Grocery Today

Damage resulting from an early-morning fire at Schermer Bros. Market, 12th Street and Madison Avenue, still was being appraised early this afternoon. Avery Schermer, president of the grocery firm, said he was unable to estimate loss to the building and contents immediately, but said, "the damage, though severe, was limited by fast action taken by the Madison Fire Department in summoning additional aid from Granite City and Venice."

Madison firemen responded to an alarm at the store at 1:56 a.m. today. Four minutes later a call was made to the Granite City and Venice departments which furnished two pumps and an aerial truck. Started in Dairy Dept. The blaze apparently started as the result of an overheated motor in the dairy department, situated at the southeast corner of the concrete block and brick structure and the area where the most extensive damage is located. Heavy smoke and heat initially prevented firemen from pin-pointing the fire's origin, it was learned.

3rd Redistricting Plan By County Supervisors

An alternate plan to divide Madison County into 14 districts was outlined on maps presented to the County Board of Supervisors Wednesday. Under the plan, two representatives from each district would be elected to serve on the county's governing board. Forced to redistrict and reduce its membership from the current 49, Orville Oglesby, chairman of the legislative committee, said each district would have equal representation on the board within 3% of the population. According to state legislation passed in 1969, the county is required to reorganize itself on a one-man-one-vote ruling by July 1. The law limits the number of members to 29. Other alternative plans under consideration would provide 29 members from 29 districts, and for 28 members with four representatives from each of seven districts. Oglesby told the board that a decision should be reached at its June 14 meeting. Four districts would cover the Quad-City and surrounding areas. District 9 will include the north portion of Granite City within the city limits with a population of 18,191; District 10 would include most of the south portion of Granite City with 18,206; District 11 would include Venice, Madison and the south part of Granite City with 18,206; District 12 would take in Nameoki Township, including Ponton Beach, Nameoki Gardens, Horseshoe Lake and State Park Place and parts of Collinsville Township including Maryville, Pleasant Ridge, (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3.)

Environmental control for the Illinois attorney general, charged that the local steel industry has been in direct violation of state air pollution requirements. He contended that GC Steel has continued to operate in violation without petitions for a variance of state regulations.

Some Solutions Found John Sullivan, GC Steel attorney with the law firm of Jenner & Block of Chicago, serving with local attorney Randall Robertson, presented a long report on past activities of the firm to achieve clean air and of additional programs now on the drawing boards. Sullivan said "evidence will show that the firm has invested a great deal of money ($3.5 million in one program) and intends to spend more in control of emissions."

"Solutions have been found for most but not all emissions, and most of the emissions have been considerably reduced," Sullivan asserted.

Caplan said the hearing is based on enforcement of the Air Pollution Control Act, and charged that the company failed to obtain necessary permits and failed to comply with its own air pollution control program.

Wants National Steel Involved During his opening statements, Caplan pointed out that merger talks between GC Steel, rated as the 11th to 14th largest steel producing firm in the nation, and National Steel Corp., rated 4th, are under way. He suggested that National Steel be made a party to the case.

Caplan claimed that various Granite City Steel operations result in air contaminants, each a separate source of pollution. Statements and testimony, including color slides of operations, dealt primarily with the Blast Furnace Division of the firm.

It was asserted that the "coke plant" is completely uncontrolled and that the sintering plant, blast furnace, basic oxygen furnaces, blooming mill and rolling mills are all sources of contamination.

Discharge of Contaminants Caplan alleged that GC Steel operations using coal, iron ore and related chemicals produce a wide variety of contaminants and emissions discharged in the atmosphere in "one way or another."

"It poses a threat to health, property and life style of the people," he told the hearing, and the resulting "health hazards causes unnecessary medical expense and property damage."

Arrests as Youths Gather In Vicinity of City Hall

(Pictures on Page 45) The City Hall area was the principal scene of confrontation between youths and authorities in Granite City Monday night, the fourth consecutive evening in which young people formed large gatherings. A score of arrests occurred Monday night but there was a relatively uneventful gathering Tuesday evening at Wilson Park. No incidents were reported last night. Michael Gracey, 20, of 22154 Edison Ave. was bitten at 8:45 p.m. Monday by Sir Kelly, the Madison police dog, when Gracey and another youth who were fleeing from Granite City police ran up behind Sergeant Ronald Grzywacz of Madison who was at the corner of Ed-

Boarding Houses, Saloons Thrive as Business Booms In New City, New Century

On Aug. 21-23, Granite Cityans will celebrate their city's 75th year and the 50th anniversary of the park district. This is the twelfth in a series on local history. The latest article reported on the business and professional men active here during the late 1890's. It was noted that the National Enameling & Stamping Co. was incorporated in 1899, consolidating the Niedringhaus industrial plants here with stamping and enameling works in New York, Milwaukee, Baltimore and New Orleans. The place might grow to have 20,000 inhabitants or twenty times 20,000. Who could tell? Hurrying lest the lot or house they wanted should be sold to someone else on the morrow, scores of mill employees forgot their fears of malaria and established homes in Granite City. The real estate market waxed bullish. An acute housing shortage developed. Even sleeping rooms became scarce, although Phillip Lauff, John E. Molthrop and P. F. Krakenberg opened new hotels. Many single men lived in saloon-boarding houses where such names as the Yellow Dog, the Blue Goose, the Black Bear (named for its hirsute owner, "Black Bear" Winkelmeyer), (Continued on Page 10, Col. 1.)

Record Savings Bond Service by Karandjeff

A record believed to be unprecedented — continuous service as Madison County general chairman throughout the 30-year history of U.S. savings bonds — was cited as Henry D. Karandjeff was honored at a luncheon yesterday at Sunset Hills Country Club. Eighty attended.

Board chairman of the Trust & Savings Bank and the American National Bank, both in Granite City, he has led volunteers in promoting the U.S. bond sales since they began in 1941.

Mr. Karandjeff received a plaque containing the Presidential and Treasury Department seals, praising him for "30 years of patriotic service, U.S. savings bonds, 1941-71."

Privilege to Serve "It has been a real privilege to serve the county like this," he responded. "In my opinion, it offers to everyone an opportunity to build a constructive life; it is up to each individual."

The award was presented to him by Mrs. Jeanne Smith, resident of Tulsa, Okla., who holds the title of Mrs. U. S. Savings Bonds and was the principal speaker at the luncheon. Host was the A. O. Smith Corp. and its Granite City plant manager, Paul Kemp.

Payroll Savings Drive Mr. Kemp, who presided, is chairman of the Madison-St. Clair Counties 1971 Take Stock in America Campaign, encouraging payroll savings programs.

Mr. Kemp outlined campaign plans and Mr. Karandjeff introduced the guest speaker. Also speaking was Jack Niles, Missouri-Southern Illinois savings bond director. The award recipient recalled the three decades of savings bond sales and cited Edwin G. Schmitt and C. E. Townsend as playing key roles in past drives.

GC Steel Outlines Steps Taken to Control Air Pollution

Granite City Steel Co. on Tuesday defended its air pollution control program at a hearing at the City Hall.

Conducted by the Illinois Pollution Control Board, the public hearing was based on a complaint filed by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. The company summarized what Granite City Steel has done and is doing to control air pollution from various facilities. Text of its statement follows:

"Understanding the matters at issue will be helped by a brief description of the way steel is made at Granite City Steel."

"The steelmaking process begins with iron which occurs in nature in combination with oxygen (iron oxide) and mixed with varying amounts of useless earthy substances.

"The iron is extracted from the ore in a blast furnace when burning coke (carbon) combines with and removes the oxygen while limestone (a flux) combines with the earthy materials to form a slag which floats on top of the molten iron.

Excess carbon and other impurities are subsequently removed from the iron in a basic oxygen furnace to produce steel, which is iron alloyed with a small, carefully controlled amount of carbon.

"The main facilities involved in these operations are the following:

"Coke ovens: Metallurgical coke, the fuel used in blast furnaces for the making of iron, is produced by the controlled heating of blends of low-sulfur coal in by-product coke ovens.

"Granite City Steel operates three batteries with a total of 137 ovens and a rated annual capacity of 840,000 tons of coke. These are slot-type coke oven batteries of the kind used to produce more than 98% of all coke in the U.S., or about 85,000,000 tons a year.

"Sinter plant: This facility is used to produce a sinter, a mixture of iron ore and waste materials, coke 'breeze' and blast furnace flue dust, so they can be used in the blast furnaces.

"Blast furnaces: The company's two blast furnaces are charged with iron ore pellets, sinter, coke and limestone and can produce about 1,300,000 tons a year of molten pig iron, a material that is about 94% iron.

"Slag from the blast furnace process is screened and sold as ballast or for concrete aggregate.

"Basic oxygen furnaces: Molten iron and scrap steel are refined to produce steel in a modern plant with two 220-ton vessels and an annual capacity of 2,200,000 tons.

"The steel solidifies in ingot molds and is then formed by rolling into various flat rolled plate, hot and cold rolled sheet, galvanized sheet and other flat rolled steel products.

"Air Pollution Control to Date: The problems of air pollution in the steel industry have never been easy to solve. The raw materials combined to make steel, iron and steel, release heat and generate substantial amounts of fine waste matter.

"However, solutions have been found to most, although not all, of the major sources of emissions, and there has been a substantial reduction in dust, fume particles and gases.

"Blast furnaces: Both furnaces are equipped with dry dust collection equipment, high energy wet scrubbing equipment and gas coolers — a 3-stage cleaning process which removes all but a trace of dust (less than 1/100th of a grain per standard cubic foot of air) from the gas stream.

"Most of the blast furnace gas is then used as a fuel.

"Basic oxygen furnaces: The blowing of oxygen onto the molten bath in these furnaces generates a huge volume of very hot waste gas.

"However, a modern, very efficient air quality control system first cools the gas from temperatures approaching 3,000 deg. F., and then uses three large electrostatic precipitators to remove more than 98% of the dust which is put in sealed containers and hauled to a company storage area.

"The system is designed to reduce the residual dust emission to 5/100th of a grain per standard cubic foot. This one installation has taken more particulate matter out of the air than any other single pollution control measure undertaken in the bi-state St. Louis region in recent years.

"The precipitators and other parts of the BOF air quality control system cost $3,570,000 to install and $570,000 a year to operate.

"Present Air Pollution Control Program: The company contemplates a capital expenditure in the millions of dollars in the next two years on air quality control measures. The highlights of this planned program are as follows:

"Coke ovens: Most of the gases and vapors given off when coke is converted into coke are piped to a coal chemicals plant and converted into useful products.

"However, some emissions occur at any coke oven battery when an oven is charged with a fresh load of coal and when the coke is pushed into the open air, and bursts into flames.

"Granite City Steel has invested heavily along with other steel companies on research into means of controlling coke oven emissions and proving equipment reliability, and recent developments allow some positive actions to be taken.

"Granite City Steel has authorized the Koppers Co. of Pittsburgh to proceed with the engineering for an American Iron and Steel Institute Coke Oven Charging Air Quality Control System, even though testing of a $1,500,000 prototype has not been completed.

"The system is designed to control the discharge of smoke and fumes while a fresh load of coal is being charged into an oven, the operation which produces the most emissions from coke ovens.

"The coal-charging car serving all three batteries will have automatic, magnetic lid lifters to insure prompt, effective sealing of the coke ovens after charging.

"The system will create a slight vacuum inside the oven during charging so that air flows into the openings instead of smoke coming out. The whole charging operation will be mechanized with one operator handling the opening and closing of the charging holes.

"It is estimated that the design, fabrication, installation and debugging of the new system can be completed in 24 months.

"The quenching of coke, a relatively less important source of emissions in the coking operation, can result in coke dust being carried off in the steam plume from the quench tower.

"Granite City Steel is engineering a system of baffles in the coke quench tower to reduce the amount of water vapor escaping into the air. This installation is scheduled for completion by Dec. 1, 1971.

"Pushing coke from an oven into open air causes it to burst into flames, and there is much smoke and proved way to capture, collect and clean the emissions.

"Granite City Steel is paying its share to support research projects which may yield an answer, and is pledged to take action whenever a workable control system is developed from this part of the coking operation.

"Granite City Steel will employ a qualified consulting engineer to further seek solutions to control of these emissions through applied engineering research."

"Blast furnaces: The company's state-approved Air Contaminant Emission Reduction Program for the blast furnaces will be completed when a bleeder-burner stack is installed to burn excess blast furnace gas before it escapes into the atmosphere.

"This project will be carried out when the 'B' blast furnace takes out of service to be repaired and improved.

"At the same time, the gas cleaning section of that furnace will be significantly upgraded to provide cleaner blast furnace gas for heating and incoming blast air.

"The 'B' blast furnace is expected to end its present 'campaign' late in 1971.

"The bleeder-burner stack is expected to be completely installed in calendar 1971.

"Sinter plant: Presently equipped with mechanical dust collectors which remove about 90% of the particulate matter by weight, Steel industry researchers have encountered many difficulties in trying to do much better with sinter plant exhausts.

"Moisture in the waste gases and the type of dust reduces the efficiency of electrostatic precipitators and other equipment. However, with two years of own engineering studies completed, Granite City Steel has made the following decisions:

"1. A high-efficiency baghouse cleaner system for the control of emissions from the sinter breaker exhaust has been ordered and is scheduled to be installed and in operation by mid-1971.

"2. The company is committed to installing a high-energy wet scrubber to clean emissions from the main wind-box exhaust. The company is also applying to the Air Pollution Control Office of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency for research funds to test devices for achieving ultra-high gas cleaning efficiencies with sinter plant exhausts.

"Other Areas of Plant: The foregoing describes the Environmental Control Program for these facilities, which are sources or potential sources of a significant degree of emissions.

"Granite City Steel has also reduced emissions by substituting natural gas for soft coal and fuel oil at a steam generating plant and in the slab heating furnaces."

Chris Hjelm Presented 50-Year Masonic Pin

Chris Hjelm, 2204 E. 25th St., a past master of Granite City Masonic Lodge 877, was presented a 50-year membership pin by Brinley O. Bodnam, also a past master, this week.

Others visiting Hjelm, who has served the order since 1921, were John Burgess, worshipful master, and past masters Cleve Smith, George E. Malotki, James E. Fox and Luther Smith, deputy grand master of Illinois.

Bodnam served as master in 1922, followed by Malotki in 1923.

The occasion was termed unusual as a worshipful master was succeeded by his senior and junior wardens who were together. Past activities were recalled.

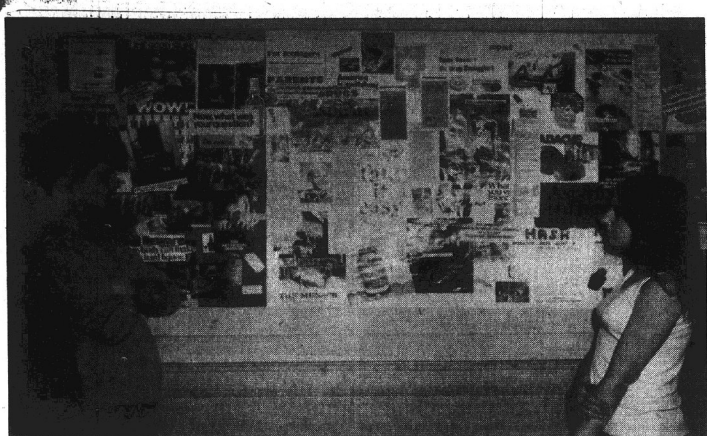

Curtright, Hjelm, Bodnam and Malotki are the oldest living past masters, in that order. Curtright served in 1918.

Mrs. Hjelm, a 50-year member of Granite City Chapter 650, witnessed the occasion.

age... some results of which are fatal."

Caplan also claimed that the firm operates in disregard of the law. He said it failed to undertake an effective program to control emissions, broke promises, acted in bad faith accompanied by arrogance and was deserving of the maximum penalties under the law.

$1 Million Penalty?

Recent efforts to achieve a settlement which would have cost the company a $150,000 penalty were turned down by the firm. Caplan said the firm failed to meet a required cleanup program and that an additional $800,000 in proposed suspended penalties would have been levied.

Sullivan insisted that the coke ovens are being operated in compliance with state regulations.

He said that "evidence will show that controls are planned for the coke plant, and that capital expenditures of millions of dollars will be used in the next two years on control programs."

"Granite City Steel has invested heavily with other companies on research."

Seek Efficient Controls

Orders and expenditures on pilot programs, original prototype equipment and research have been placed with the Koppers Co. of Pittsburgh and with other research and construction institutions in attempts to effect efficient control devices, Sullivan said.

"A Koppers Co. order for a prototype, at a cost of $1½ million, has yet to be completed," the GC Steel representative said, but the device should be finished in about 24 months. He said it is designed to control discharge of smoke and fumes.

Sullivan told the hearing that a shutdown of any of the operations at GC Steel would lead to bankruptcy and would have a disastrous effect not only on the economy of Granite City but upon the state and other firms and their employees dependent upon GC Steel products.

Officer Denies Motions

As the hearing opened, Lawson denied motions of both sides, including one by the state for a default judgment and another by GCS for dismissal of the case.

Lawton ruled that he was without authority to grant a dismissal.

Robertson, in an oral motion, asked that the state pollution board disqualify itself from the case. He claimed that the board is a quasi-judicial entity and is compelled to consider each case in an impartial manner.

But, he said, members of the state board have issued news letters, speeches and other public statements which were damaging to GC Steel. He claimed the board showed partiality.

Caplan attempted during the Tuesday morning session to show slides of smoke conditions at the blast furnace, sintering plant, coke ovens, and basic oxygen furnace operation. Sullivan, after repeated objections and arguments requiring about 20 minutes, was able to delay the process as the photographer was unavailable and dates that the color slides were taken were not documented.

Poor Quality Photos

Lawton accepted a stipulation that the slides were taken in July and December 1970 and January 1971.

It was noted that Ralph Crapo, EPA engineer, had taken the photos, many of which were later described by Sullivan as being of poor quality when they were shown in the afternoon.

The first witness to testify was Donald F. Cairns, assistant to GC Steel President Lyle Guley. Cairns has been with the firm for 15 years.

Caplan cited a memorandum by the GC Steel administration to plant departmental supervisors in April 1967 on determining air contaminant emissions.

He questioned Cairns and Harlie Love, technical coordinator for environmental systems of the company. The two were the only witnesses the first day and were to be recalled the second day of the hearing yesterday.

Advices on Policies

Caplan advised the president of the firm on policies to be implemented on environmental control and said that calculations had been made in the past 12-month period.

Caplan charged that pollution control devices at the "B" blast furnace were being delayed until the unit is shut down for maintenance and repairs later this year.

He said he had ordered documents on the matter and that he had received them, but was told that the request had not been received until that morning.

Cairns was asked about the various types of gases emitted in coking of coal, and said there would be some carbon dioxide and sulfur dioxide but no cyanide, phenol, carbon disulfide or ammonia compounds. He had no knowledge of other types of technical gases emitted by Caplan.

Control Problem

In answer to questions, Love agreed that operations of the coke plant currently present an environmental control problem.

Love said that the firm is preparing coke quenching station systems, that most coke oven gases are utilized by the company, that flaring excess coke oven gas is being burned and that there is no problem in blending of coals before being charged in ovens.

He admitted that some emission results when combustion of gas is incomplete and that there are no pollution control devices on coke oven stacks.

Love also testified that emissions are within state limitations but that there are no devices for controls in charging of coke ovens.

He said some pollutants were slightly over state regulations and that technical experts, including Wisconsin Chemical & Testing Co., have been utilized in the company's studies.

The engineer denied that the blast furnace is a source of contamination, as it has "very good scrubbing equipment," though during the tapping operation in the blast furnace there is some atmospheric contamination, there being no control there.

He denied emissions from the plant and rolling mill operations.

Smoke, Vapor Emissions

Love was questioned about smoke and water vapor emissions shown in color slides displayed Tuesday afternoon and remarked that, in most cases, the situation was not a normal condition of the plant operation.

During a cross-examination by Sullivan, Love described four control systems under study and development, utilizing research by the American Iron & Steel Institute and other leading firms.

Included were a sinter breaker process at a cost of $150,000, an application to the federal Air Pollution Control Office for assistance in a high energy wet scrubber for sintering machines, a $150,000 bleeder burns stack project to handle excess blast furnace gas, and a high-energy scrubber for the "BW blast furnace" when it is being relined.

At the start of the session, Lawson expressed hope that the hearing could be completed in three days, but he expected that the hearings would have to be resumed at some future date.

County Banking Of Funds Snagged Over Dispute

Action on interest rate bids from banks in Madison County on county government funds was delayed Tuesday morning in a dispute between County Treasurer George Musso, Asst. State's Attorney Marshall Smith and Auditor John Kraynak.

The Madison County Board of Supervisors had authorized investment of funds, and it was determined by Kraynak that higher earnings could be obtained from banks than from investments in federal treasury notes, as banks now pay 5% or more interest while treasury notes are down to 3½%.

Musso insisted that his authority was being usurped and that Smith obtain a legal opinion on investments from the Illinois attorney general. Smith said he would do so.

The county treasurer claimed that the investment plan was illegal under the old and new state constitutions.

The investment plan was approved by the finance committee of the County Board of Supervisors on Kraynak's request. Smith said Kraynak was in a greater position to determine the amounts of available funds which could be invested than the county treasurer.

Itemized bids from 13 banks were provided yesterday morning by Kraynak, based on 30, 60, 90, 120, 180 day and one-year deposits.

The highest interest rate for a year was offered by the State Bank of Collinsville at 5.375% interest. The First National Trust Bank of Alton listed a 5½% rate, while the First National Bank in Madison, First Granite City National Bank, Troy Security Bank and First National Bank of Wood River submitted bids of 5%.

American National Bank of Granite City submitted a bid of 4½% interest for a deposit of a year. Rates for 30-day deposits ranged from 3¼% to 4% interest.

morning, almost obscuring the south wall.

Despite the apparent near destruction of the supermarket, a woman was waiting to shop in the store at 8 a.m. today when Mrs. Betty Schermer arrived at the building.

Another optimistic shopper commented, "I don't mind shopping even if there has been a fire."

"We intend to leave no stone unturned to reopen in a hurry," Schermer said.

Coincidentally, today's blaze came on the 32nd anniversary of a $25,000 fire at the store which occurred May 20, 1959. More than $50,000 damage was sustained in a second fire March 8, 1956, at the grocery firm.

Members of the Madison Firemen's Auxiliary served coffee and donuts to the fire-fighters on duty throughout the night. Police remained at the scene late this morning, guarding the store against intruders.

Money raised by Pyramid for the Mississippi River Festival passed the $20,000 mark yesterday, it was announced by Mrs. John W. Fries of Belleville and Mrs. George A. Dickey of West St. Louis County, co-chairmen. The Pyramid fund immediately swelled to $40,000 with the announcement by Mrs. Elmer E. Hilpert, president of the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony Society, that the association was donating $20,000 previously pledged to match the first $20,000 raised by the Pyramid.

Blaze Causes $5,000 Damage To Residence

Fire apparently caused by a cigarette resulted in an estimated $5,000 damage to the one-story frame home of Lionel Garrett, 2104 Nameoki Road, Tuesday evening.

Granite City firemen received the first alarm at 6:55 p.m. Tuesday. They said when they arrived the house already was badly damaged.

They fought the blaze for two hours. At 10 p.m., they were called back to douse smoldering wood and insulation, and remained nearly an hour.

The house is owned by Bob Swiatek. No one was at home when the fire started.

Positive, Unified Approach to Community Issues Urged

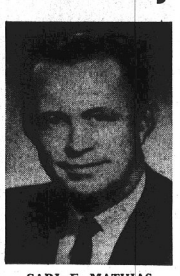

A program to emphasize the positive values of the Quad-City area, combined with steps to improve negative aspects, was proposed Tuesday by Carl E. Mathias, Illinois Power Co. service area manager.

Addressing the Granite City Rotary Club, of which he is the immediate past president, Mathias suggested that Rotary serve as a catalyst to bring together the various segments of this community.

In explaining the plan, Mathias commented, "All of us are becoming experts in our complicated society of today. We readily recognize the major problems confronting us—and make sure that our associates recognize our wisdom by continually identifying these same problems to them."

"On a national level we certainly know about air pollution, water pollution, noise pollution, racial unrest, campus unrest, overpopulation, unemployment, inflation, government intervention, Vietnam, moral decay, dope and I am sure I could name many more," Mathias said.

"We run around clucking to our friends about the terrible condition of things—saying how bad they are and something ought to be done about them. Yet, if it's so terrible, why is it we are living so well individually?"

CARL E. MATHIAS

"The increased use of dope—but, interestingly enough, I find that 70 years ago, one out of every 400 Americans was using hard drugs. Today, it's one in 300."

"So, while youth is experimenting with drugs, the long range trend is downward—not upward," Mathias said.

Vietnam Views Vary

"Vietnam is yet another type of problem. There seem to be as many solutions as people who think about it."

"Many of our senators and representatives advocate an immediate withdrawal, while others say we should remain and protect the freedom of the South Vietnamese."

"Our military men have another approach and the President still another. About the only conclusion I can draw at this time is that certainly it is much better than it was several years ago. And we do seem to have adopted a plan that will eliminate this as a major issue in the very near future."

"These are very real national problems and they should be worked on continually—but let's not get lost in the condemnation of our country. Is it really that bad? Where else could we have it so good?"

"Briefly let me talk about

"We should solve these things, but it is going to take a little time to develop technology," Mathias asserted.

"The far I've tried to describe some things as I see them on a national level. For lack of time, I won't discuss the state level. Let's take a look at the local level."

"If we continue our theory that we are all experts, we have undoubtedly been able to identify the problems in our community."

"Are they similar? Air pollution, water pollution, racial unrest, unemployment, government intervention and more."

"I think without exception you would agree that in discussions with one another we are all prone to run our community down. By this time have convinced not only ourselves, but also any visiting citizens that the problems confronting us are gigantic and that we really don't have a solution for them."

Stand Up for Community

"Who among you has stood up for this community? Advocated the nice things we have? Enumerated our assets?"

"Which of you has taken positive steps to correct the problems of the area?"

"Who has said, 'Taxes are too high—and here is the method to correct it.'"

"Isn't it more likely that we take approaches such as, 'I can't compete with downtown St. Louis, therefore, it's just impossible for me to make improvements in my retail establishment.' Or, management says, 'I can't get labor to work me more production.'"

"Labor says, 'Management doesn't understand my problems; I must have more wages, better conditions, etc.'"

"I hope I have pointed out to you that we are becoming the best condemners—experts, in fact."

"This is not necessarily new. But in the past, if we were ready to do something about the situation to correct it."

"This is not to say that no one is attempting to improve the situation. But we all go another matter that concerns me—energy. After all, that's our business—to serve you better."

Impact of Ecology Drive

"In many parts of our country there is a shortage of energy—you will probably be reading about it this summer—"brownouts," "blackouts," etc."

"Utilities have been unable to install generation to meet the needs due to many delays from citizen groups concerned with the ecology of the area, thermal pollution from atomic plants, air pollution from fossil fuel plants and, in some instances, just ethics."

"There isn't enough coal of any kind available—but we are told to not use high-sulfur coal. Natural gas is unavailable in increased amounts. Many fuel oils are too high in sulphur content."

"We should solve these things, but it is going to take a little time to develop technology," Mathias asserted.

"The far I've tried to describe some things as I see them on a national level. For lack of time, I won't discuss the state level. Let's take a look at the local level."

"Are they similar? Air pollution, water pollution, racial unrest, unemployment, government intervention and more."

"I think without exception you would agree that in discussions with one another we are all prone to run our community down. By this time have convinced not only ourselves, but also any visiting citizens that the problems confronting us are gigantic and that we really don't have a solution for them."

Stand Up for Community

"Who among you has stood up for this community? Advocated the nice things we have? Enumerated our assets?"

"Which of you has taken positive steps to correct the problems of the area?"

"Who has said, 'Taxes are too high—and here is the method to correct it.'"

"Isn't it more likely that we take approaches such as, 'I can't compete with downtown St. Louis, therefore, it's just impossible for me to make improvements in my retail establishment.' Or, management says, 'I can't get labor to work me more production.'"

"Labor says, 'Management doesn't understand my problems; I must have more wages, better conditions, etc.'"

"I hope I have pointed out to you that we are becoming the best condemners—experts, in fact."

"This is not necessarily new. But in the past, if we were ready to do something about the situation to correct it."

"This is not to say that no one is attempting to improve the situation. But we all go

GCCHS Book Rental Fees, Workbook Costs to Rise

Book rental fees at Granite City High School will be increased from $4.50 to $5 starting in September and workbook costs for elementary students will go up 25 cents to $4.25 per year.

Action resulting in higher book rental costs to local students was taken Monday night by the Granite City School Board following recommendations prepared by District Controller Victor G. Anderson and GCCHS Principal Lawrence McCauley.

Both administrators noted that school systems in the immediate area have substantially higher rental fees. A comparison study disclosed that fees charged students in the Alton semester, or $115 a year.

The Collinsville district rents books according to subjects in which students are enrolled, averaging between $8 and $27 per year, the report stated.

To Assess Rentals

Beginning this fall, Edwardsville will levy a $5.50 charge per semester or $11 per year for textbooks. The school has a $6 yearly rental book fee.

Book rental fees through March in Granite City amount ed to $15.75, resulting in a deficit of $1,800, the report continued.

From the present $5 fee, 50 cents pays the cost of student identification cards. Rental costs for books also comes from the rental book account, it was explained.

With an estimated 3,400 high school students in 1971-72 paying $5.50 rental fees, a total of $18,700 will be accrued. The amount is barely sufficient to meet costs, Anderson said.

Noting that workbook costs at the elementary level have not been increased since 1966, it was emphasized that charge for books have risen considerably over the same period.

Air Conditioning Offices

Air conditioning equipment will be purchased for the offices of principals, the board members decided in other action taken Monday evening.

Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis commented, "I had to see the PTAs having to hold fund raising efforts to purchase books. I believe it should be a legitimate expense to the district to air condition the offices."

Board Member Donald Stucke mentioned that in many instances the school nurse's office is adjacent to the principals' office. If a child is sick, he would benefit from being taken to a cooler room."

It was noted that six elementary schools have air conditioned offices — five are cooled by equipment owned personally by the building principal and one school, Logan, has a unit which was purchased by the PTA.

Approve Purchases

Bids for equipment and materials approved during the meeting include the Industrial Arts purchases, submitted by A. J. Turner, assistant business manager, for a total amount of $8,287; records and record albums, $600; typewriters $10,801; language laboratory $2,612; special purchase-microphones and related items, $545.

The board also authorized seeking bids for publishing the Granite High World by offset printing to reduce costs and possibly put the school newspaper on a profit basis or at least avoid a deficit.

Expenditures approved by the board included $92,726 from the educational fund; $11,494, new construction fund No. 1; $36,745, new construction fund No. 2; $54,805, building fund; $5,532, federal funds; $768 from joint agreement fund.

Payment of $126, transportation fund also was approved; $3,000, building fund fire repair; $324, educational travel fund; $20, federal travel funds; and $26, joint agreement travel fund.

Total disbursements from the cafeteria fund for the month of April to $40,268.

Also approved for payment was a change order at Wilson School, where a cooking area or classroom work will be installed. Cost to include wiring for an electric range was set at $165.

Board Eliminates Two Social Worker Posts

Two social worker positions in the Granite City school system will be dissolved at the conclusion of the current school year on the recommendation of Vasil Etmoff, director of pupil personnel and School Superintendent B. J. Davis. The action was taken at a meeting of the board Monday night.

Answering a question posed by Board Secretary George Moore who inquired whether the type of services still will be available despite the elimination of the two posts, Supt. Davis noted that four United Fund-supported agencies do provide the same services to the district.

Agencies that are utilized in this field are the Coordinated Youth Services, Protestant Welfare, Catholic Charities and the Illinois Child and Family Services.

A cooperative effort has been established between the school system and resource agencies of the community and their information is available to the schools, Supt. Davis said. Counselors in the junior and senior high schools and nurses develop many of the needed medical and case histories.

Approval also was granted for SIU-SW to place student teachers in the Granite City School District for the school year 1971-72. Board of Education approval is requested on the basis of the school district's authorization form requiring the student's personal interview with the Administrative Assistant-Personnel.

Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, introduced names of four college students who have applied for positions in the summer Title I program in a non-teaching capacity. All received board approval.

Three of the applicants, Brenda Sawyer, 408 Sara Ave., with two years of college; Cynthia Todoroff, 127 Colgate Place, two years of college, and Barrie Massie of 2545 Edison Ave., three years of college, were employed last summer in the same capacity. Joyce Sheppard, 2422 Edison Ave., a three-year college student, was hired for the first year.

Teachers Council to Host Dinner Tonight

The Southwest Area Council of the Illinois Federation of Teachers will host a dinner at the Rose Bowl this evening for presidents of area locals.

Following the dinner, a business meeting for delegates to the Southwest Area Council will be held at the Travelodge, Local 743 of the Granite City Federation is a member of the Southwest Area Council.

Collide in Intersection

The autos of David G. Carroll, 2004 Washington Ave., and Roy Moore, 288 Myrtle Ave., collided in the intersection of 18th and State streets at 12:20 a.m. yesterday after both cars stopped for stop signs and proceeded into the intersection. The front of Moore's auto and the left side and rear of the Carroll car were damaged.

What do you need most?

Job promotion? Better health? A more understanding family? What if someone said you first need an awareness of your God-given spiritual qualities—love, joy, confidence? These are the most valuable employee. A better parent. And they're the surest foundation for health.

Spiritual qualities come to all of us from God, and they're always available. Hear Florence C. Southwell of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship talk about "God's Love and the Human Need."

Keen Victor In Close Speedway Cycle Race

Neal Keen, St. Louis, held on to his motorcycle point lead at the Tri-City Speedway by winning the feature event during the weekly Tuesday night races at the local track.

Keen ran the 10-lap feature event on the quarter-mile dirt oval with Gordon Dusenberry, Wichita, Kan., never more than two wheel lengths behind. Dusenberry started on the pole position with Keen on the outside of the front row but in the first turn Keen's 250-cc Yamaha jumped into a slight lead which he held through the checkered flag. Charlie Chopple, Flint, Mich., claimed third place.

Keen and Dusenberry were the winners in their respective semi-feature events, and Sonny Ott, St. Louis, turned in the fastest time trial.

About 600 fans were on hand to witness the program. About 1,000 attended the weekly races last year.

The American Motorcycle Assn. sanctioned races are for class "C" motorcycles which are limited to 250-cc engines. An unlimited engine race on the half-mile oval is planned later this year. No date has been announced for that race.

Braves Win City Junior High Track Crown, Prather Second

The Coolidge Braves were again declared the undisputed Granite City Junior High track champions Tuesday as they claimed victory in the 7th, 8th and 9th grade divisions on the Granite City High School track.

The final scores for the ninth graders was Coolidge 49, Prather 30 and Grigsby 28.

Eighth grader Frank Baranica gave Central a first in the low hurdles over five and Brave Chris Jacobson set a record in the high jump of 5 feet, 6 inches, by an inch. Coolidge also had two double winners, Paul Mushill winning the low hurdles and 220-yard dash and Dave Hamlin winning the discus and shot put.

In the seventh grade division, Doug Hartman of Coolidge set a new shot put record at 41 feet, 7 1/2 inches, well over the previous 40-foot record.

Sonny Hankins of Central tied for first in the long jump. The

Myers, Spalding Head Stock Field At Tri-City Speedway Tomorrow

Bill Myers of Rosewood Heights, Ill., may face an even tougher challenge this weekend at the Tri-City Speedway than he experienced with the Nascar (National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing) Grand American division drivers here last weekend.

Tomorrow With Spalding of Granite City will attempt to dethrone Myers as "King of the Stockers" at the local track.

Myers matched abilities with some of the top stock car drivers in the nation May 15 at the Red Baron Special 150-lap (75-mile) feature and was in first place from the 11th lap through the 121st lap when his car's engine lost oil pressure and burst into flames.

At that point, DeWayne "Tiny" Lund of Cross, S.C., resumed the lead, which he had lost to Myers and went on to win his share of the $7,400 purse.

Myers had been invited to compete in the event to help fill the field, although he was not a Nascar driver. If he had won the feature event, "it could have been a real blackeye for Nascar," one official commented.

Prize Money Increased
Tomorrow night, Spalding will bring a new 1970 Camaro, number 44, to the track to challenge Myers' 1970 Mustang for a late model stock car purse which was greatly increased by Ralph Kessling, promoter, this week.

Spalding won the feature May 16 at St. Charles Speedway, St. Charles, Mo., in the Camaro and the race tomorrow here may indicate who will finish the season with the point championship in the division.

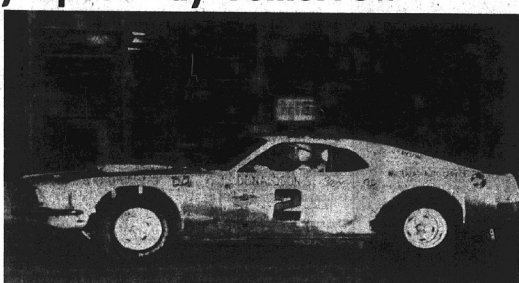

Another auto to watch for Friday night will be a special Chevrolet which George Gruenfelder of Madison has just completed of Corvair and Camaro components.

Over 14 stockers are expected in the division tomorrow night. Sprints Also on the Track
With the late model stocks will be about 25 super sprint cars, including Spalding's new number 56 and Russ Hibbard's red number 23.

Hibbard won the top money in

IN THE LEAD during the Nascar 150-lap feature race here is Tri-City Speedway regular Bill Myers, who was granted special permission to race in the event. He led until his engine lost oil pressure and burned. Myers will be among the drivers here this weekend as regular Friday night races resume at the local track.

the feature race at the Capital City Speedway in Jefferson City, Mo., May 15 and was second in the feature race here April 25.

Chuck Amati of Greenfield, Tenn., winner of the April 25 feature, has indicated he will be unable to race here tomorrow because of the Little "500" which will be run for sprinters in Anderson, Ill., Saturday afternoon.

Amati has qualified for the second-row pole position in the $14,000 purse race and has indicated he does not want to risk damaging his car the night before that event. He said he will return to the Tri-City Speedway May 25.

Qualifications Resumed
Qualifications for positions in the heat races, which had been eliminated this year, will be resumed and all drivers will be forced to qualify between 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. or be placed at the rear of the semi-feature event.

This rule was put into effect by Kessling to avoid the delays in starting the program which were experienced last year.

Most of the drivers and a large number of the fans objected to the elimination of the individual qualifications, in which each driver is given two timed laps. The best time is used to determine places in fast and slow heats.

The Tri-City Speedway gates will open at 6 p.m. Friday and qualifications will begin promptly at 7. The first race will get under way at 8:30 p.m. The track is located a half mile south of Interstate 270 on Route 203 (Nameoki Road).

WATCH OUT TINY! A member of DeWayne "Tiny" Lund's pit crew holds up a warning to the driver that Bill Myers' No. 2 car is in first place in the Red Baron Special Nascar race at the Tri-City Speedway. Lund, 1968 and 1970 American Division point champion, went on to win the race after Myers' car's engine burst into flames.

FEDER & HUBER FURNITURE
NIEDRINGHAUS AND DELMAR

Two ridiculous gimmicks of the 1940's.

Everyone laughed when they came out with the television.

A box that could show pictures from 3,000 miles away? Absurd. But everyone really cracked up when we came out with the Volkswagen.

A car with its engine in the back? Its front in the front? And its radiator in neither the front nor the back? It even looked like a joke.

But time marched on. The television clicked. The Volkswagen accelerated. People liked the idea of a car that didn't drink gas like water. Or oil like water. Or, for that matter, didn't even drink water.

Some strange people even liked the idea that it was strange looking.

In fact, Detroit car makers now like the idea of a Volkswagen so much that they decided to make their own.

And even with all those now small cars around, the fate of the bag is still secure.

This is the first year for all of the cars. We've had 23 years of re-runs.

and the Big Four (named for proprietor William Bergman's four children).

The various rows of flats and cottages where workers' families resided each bore apt titles. There were Big Six, Little Six, Big Ten, Ink Bottle Row, and the Filthy Brick (the filthy double houses the Niedringhaus had built).

Granite City of 1900 was bounded by Quincy Street, Sixteenth Street, Twenty-first Street and the railroad tracks.

The business section lay along Eighteenth street between State Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

A small Negro colony huddled against the levee west of the city, and a group of Magyars had settled in what was to be known successively as Hungarry Hollow, Hungry Hollow and Lincoln Place.

In the summer of 1901, McCaslen and Youree sold dozens of lots in a new subdivision called West Granite.

The Immanuel Lutheran Congregation replaced its temporary church with a substantial brick structure in 1900, and Zion Methodist Church was built the same year.

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church was dedicated on Nov. 5, 1901; St. Peter's Evangelical Church in April 1903; Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in April 1903; Park Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church (later Niedringhaus Memorial M.E. Church) on Feb.

IN CONFERENCE. Attorneys for the Environmental Protection Agency, center, and for Granite City Steel Co., right, meet in conference with Samuel Lawton Jr., hearing examiner, left, during the second day of hearings of air pollution charges against the steel company. With Lawton in the city hall courtroom are, left to right, Imogene Helm, clerk; Jack LaSara and Herbert Caplin, prosecuting attorneys, and Randall E. Robertson, Thomas Sullivan and Mrs. Leah Hamilton, steel company attorneys.

11, 1903; and the First Baptist Church on June 12, 1904. The Lutheran Hospital Association, organized in 1903, began constructing a $300,000 building in March 1904 on a site provided by the Niedringhaus.

In 1901, the educational system was augmented by two new schools, one near the levee and the other "on the west side of the tracks."

Both occupied rented quarters. Washington School was built in 1901.

A full-fledged high school was opened in the Old Kinderhook building in September 1903, with H. G. Waggoner as principal.

Delegates representing 18 trade unions met in Forcade Hall on Oct. 6, 1900, and organized the Tri-City Central Trades Council.

Adrian Duce was elected president; D. N. Miller, vice-president; W. H. Clark, recording secretary; H. Schaefer, secretary-at-large; and J. C. Brittain, treasurer. At a meeting on Oct. 27, John Evans was chosen organizer; a committee was appointed "to wait on the merchants of the town and urge them to stop selling scab tobacco."

Carr Schaefer and Ryckman were elected trustees of the council; and J. C. Brittain, George Fietz, Roy Huggins, Thomas A. Menan, McFarland, Schaefer and Underhill were instructed to draft a constitution and bylaws.

The First National Bank opened in November, 1900. F. Kohl was president; W. J. Biel, cashier; and H. Barco, W. Buenger, M. Hanson, J. F. Keshner, F. Kohl, H. Trarres and F. Vorwald, trustees. Granite City National Bank was established with Niedringhaus capital several years later.

Railroads Recovering In Wake of Strike

Railroads here were recovering quickly from the two-day nationwide railroad strike that was ended by Congressional action Tuesday night.

The return to work law, signed by President Richard M. Nixon, provides at 12.5% wage hike to the 13,000 striking signalmen. The bill also ordered a halt to the walkout, at least until Oct. 1.

Officials of the Norfolk and Western Railroad here said most union members, except for the signalmen, reported to work during the strike but refused to operate inbound or outbound trains. The trains operating in the Quad-Cities during the walkout were manned by company officials.

Truck, Auto Collide

A panel truck driven by Charles P. Wilson, St. Louis, and a car driven by Joseph Sveda, 2912 Grand Ave., were involved in an accident at 4:10 p.m. Wednesday at 27th Street and Grand Avenue.

Bill Authorizing Public Engineer Vetoed by Mayor

A majority bloc of Granite City aldermen which has battled for years with Mayor Donald Partney over employment of a city engineer lost a round in the continuing fight Monday night when it failed to muster enough votes to override a mayor's veto of an ordinance adopted two weeks ago.

In its opposition to the mayor over his choice of engineers, the council two weeks ago placed on final passage and adopted an ordinance that would have authorized the council to appoint a "public engineer." At present the council has only a motor fuel tax engineer on a fee basis, but it sorely needs an engineer to handle varying street, sewer and sewer problems.

The ordinance presented at that time was prepared by someone other than City Attorney Leon Scroggins, although its author was not revealed at the time the measure was presented. Arguments concerning the ordinance at the time it was presented in the May 3 council session resulted in a request for a legal opinion from Scroggins on the legality of the measure.

Scroggins said he had not seen the ordinance prior to the meeting when it was introduced and asked for time to study it.

In Monday night's meeting, Scroggins termed the ordinance a "monstrosity" and said that whoever prepared it needed a course in municipal law. Scroggins said he could not recommend that the mayor sign the bill.

Partney remarked that state law provides for appointment of a public engineer by the mayor, but his principal objection to the bill, he said, was the fact that the council several years ago amended a city ordinance providing an annual salary of $8,500 for a public engineer, and that therefore there is no way to pay such an appointee if the council were to make one.

Alderman R. E. Robertson, the mayor's most bitter foe on the council, challenged the mayor's "motives" and asked Partney if the main reason for not wanting this ordinance is because you want to appoint an engineer.

No Payment Method
The mayor replied he simply was vetoing the ordinance because there was no way to pay such an appointee.

"We can fix the salary in the budget," Robertson replied. The mayor replied that unless there was a provision by law for the salary, it would be illegal to make such an appointment.

"Whose law are we going to apply around here," Robertson asked, "yours or that of the court?"

The mayor's veto required the council to place the ordinance on reconsideration. Robertson made the motion that the council reconsider.

The motion, which required a two-thirds majority to carry, received seven "yes" votes and six "no" votes while Alderman Walter Nann, one of the mayor's principal opponents on most issues, was out of the room.

When Nann returned, he said he voted "aye" on the issue, but his vote made no difference. A majority of ten was required to approve with all 14 aldermen present.

The vote was a clear-cut defeat for Robertson who has opposed the mayor consistently in the matter of employing an engineer. Robertson has opposed Kenneth Kleberger of Research Plan & Design Associates which handles the city's motor fuel tax engineering on a special basis.

Sits in Audience
Kleberger has handled much of the city's engineering work on various projects, other than

Schwendemann-Smith Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Smith, 1207 Westport Drive, Creve Coeur, Mo., are announcing the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Miss Kathryn Smith, to Ernest L. Schwendemann, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schwendemann of Sorento, Ill., formerly of 2209 Lee Ave.

The wedding will take place Aug. 28 at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Creve Coeur. After their marriage the couple will live at the Lee Avenue address.

Scholarship Winner Introduced

Members of the Opti-Mrs. Club gathered at the Rose Bowl Tuesday for the May meeting, the last of the season. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Paul Roach, Mrs. Leo Roman, Mrs. Otto Roman and Mrs. Arthur Roseman.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Jack Dempsey, president, and Mrs. Merl Jennings introduced the latest recipient of the club's nurse scholarship award, Miss Susan Greco, who will begin her training course at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis in September.

CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY IS CONDUCTED BY CLUB

A candlelight ceremony was held during the Monday night meeting of the White by White Tops Club, with the leader, Mrs. Shirley Sobolewski, lighting the first candle. Each member then came forward to light a candle and to make individual pledges.

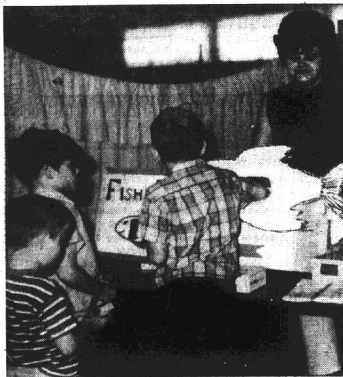

Mrs. Sobolewski conducted the business meeting at the East Side Levee office. Mrs. Sharon Bridick read the secretary's report and called roll and Mrs. Virginia Cotter collected fines and dues.

Weights were recorded by Mrs. Jo Gipson and Mrs. Rosalie Bronnauer. "Queen of the Week" was Mrs. Phyllis Boner and "Princess of the Week" was Joyce Kopsic. Both received a basket of fruit and the club crown.

Mrs. Pat Polo was presented a gift from the "wishing well," and Mrs. Betty Young was awarded a charm for one year's perfect attendance. A TOPS pin for weight loss achievement went to Jimmy Kopsic.

A report on "Area Recognition Day," held last weekend in Springfield, was given. Mrs. Sharon Bridick, the "TOPS" queen for the local club, was an honored guest at the event. Mrs. Thelma Pryor led members in the closing prayer.

DIPPING FOR FISH. Mrs. Loretta Rutkowski, a Lake PTA member, obliges the youngsters who "dipped" for prizes from the interior of a large wooden fish. Free hot dogs, ice cream and soda were served over 530 children attending the carnival by the parent-teacher group.

Lawn & Garden

By WAYNE B. STEFFERT
Area Extension Adviser
Ornamental Horticulture
St. Clair and Madison Counties

Knottweed is developing into the familiar wiry mat you saw last year along driveways and sidewalks.

Knottweed is the small green plants in thin spots with narrow strap-like leaves and wiry roots. It quickly becomes a competitor with blue grass and prevents bluegrass from creeping into nearby thin spots.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 16 Thurs., May 20, 1971

One application of a broadleaf weed killer that contains silvex, banvel-D or MCPP will control this developing pest. Immediate control will eliminate the competition while fertilizer promotes rapid growth and spread of your bluegrass.

Grass management in May is a juggling act to promote bluegrass while you control the competition. If you have thin turf, you have to control crabgrass and knotweed while bluegrass gradually takes over. If you use the pre-emerge for crabgrass this is the final step to a better lawn.

If you have large bare spots with no bluegrass it may be better to wait until fall and reseed while crabgrass and knotweed is dormant.

Off-Colored Evergreens
Red Spiders are frequently the cause when evergreen develop a thin or off-colored appearance.

Several varieties of mites all cause the same type of damage. Russeting or sticky green are typical symptoms. The mites are the size of a grain of pepper. Both red mites and 2-spotted mites injure evergreens by sucking the sap from the needles.

You can easily confirm your suspicions by shaking them off on white paper. Hold a large piece of white paper under the limb while you sharply tap the limb with a stick. The mites will fall on the paper and start to scurry around. If you have to bruise the whole shrub to find a few mites then mites aren't the problem.

For control use dicofol (Kelthane) or chlorobenzilate at the manufacturers directions. Two applications at two-week intervals are recommended.

Lots of Aphids
Colonies of soft-bodied aphids are common on landscape shrubs like spirea, viburnum, crabapples and roses as well as some early vegetables. Stunting of new shoots and blighting of developing flowers will occur unless you control them with malathion or diazinon. Make

Two Drivers Injured

On Canal Bridge

An auto driven by Betty D. Molina, 39, of 165 Briarwood Lane, which had stopped on the Chain of Rocks Canal bridge on Interstate 270, was struck in the rear by a car driven by Clarence D. Kabat, 25, of Rural Route Two, at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Both drivers were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Kabat was admitted with a hematoma to the forehead and abrasions and contusions to the knees and forearm. Mrs. Molina was treated and released following x-rays.

Parked Auto Struck

The left front of the auto of Frank Townsend, 2444 Iowa St., parked in front of his home, was struck by a hit-and-run driver, it was reported this morning.

Patio Light Struck

An unknown vehicle struck an electric patio light at the Jack-in-the-Box Restaurant, 3300 N. Meade Road, it was reported at 8:50 p.m. Wednesday.

adapted for the home gardener. It is fun and rewarding to try these new varieties. However, successful gardeners plant mainly the proven varieties and test small plots of the new introductions.

The University of Illinois Agriculture Extension Service has published Circular 882, "An Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide." Listed in this circular are 183 varieties of 40 different vegetables from asparagus to watermelons that have withstood the test of time. For a copy of this publication, contact your county Agriculture Extension Adviser or the Publications Office, College of Agriculture, Urbana.

A list of seed companies is also available from the same source. Ask for Vegetable Growing Report Number 10. It is impossible to list all of the excellent varieties of vegetables. However, the following were outstanding in performance in southern Illinois in 1969 and 1970: Jetstar, Manhattan, Burpee VF, Cardinal, Springstar, Spring Giant and Campbell 1327 tomato; Burpee Hybrid eggplant; Tasty, Emerald Giant, Lincoln Bell, and Bell Boy pepper; Earliking and Earlibell sweet corn.

The final selection of a variety will probably depend upon what has performed well for you in the past, and what seed good for the future, and what seed and plants are available. Try one or more new varieties on a small test plot for your own yield and quality evaluation.

Garden Cutworms
Cutworms are fat caterpillars that often chew off tender plants they can find. They are known to travel down the row and topple several seedlings in a single night. Cutworms are smooth gray-to-black caterpillars 1/2 to 1 1/2 inches long. They hide in the soil within 3 inches of the last cut stub.

Control is difficult with garden insect sprays. These fat worms are partially resistant. Spray the soil surface in all directions with carbaryl (sevin). Light watering or a recent shower before you spray helps control. One treatment should be adequate.

VEGETABLE VARIETIES FOR HOME USE
Now is the time to decide which vegetables and which varieties of vegetable to plant in 1971. The garden catalogs are out and the seed counters of the garden center are open for business. Don't wait until the sun is warm and the soil is dry to decide what you want to plant.

With a little planning and good variety selection, you can enjoy growing your own vegetables, full of the home-grown flavor and quality. Seed companies introduce new vegetable varieties every year. Some of these are for commercial growers and some are meoki Road, at 11:55 p.m. Monday.

MORE ABOUT

Arrest

John Cooper of the Madison County Sheriff's Department, one of ten men from that office who assisted the Granite City department, said about 75 officers from various police units were on hand when the crowd of youngsters and young adults began milling about the Granite City police department Monday night.

State police and officers from the Venice and Madison departments also assisted Granite City.

He said most of Monday night's arrest were made when the youths refused to obey police orders to disperse from groups and leave the area.

Meeting Undisturbed
The gathering outside the city hall had only slight effect on the regular Monday night meeting of the city council. Several members of the council left the meeting at brief intervals to watch the crowd and police patrols from windows just outside the council chamber.

Mayor Donald Parney, after awarding certificates to three youths who participated several weeks ago in a Government Day program sponsored by the Elks lodge, remarked: "It is a pleasure to congratulate youngsters such as these. They are the type that makes the city proud."

One of the evening's most dramatic portraits was presented by the riot-helmeted officer, accompanied by his police dog, who was stationed at the base of the city hall flagpole.

The illuminated Stars and Stripes and municipal flag blew briskly in a stiff breeze guarded by the watchful patrolman and his alert companion.

Police Dogs Present
Not only police dogs were in evidence Monday night. One spectator alighted from a compact-size auto across from the city hall building trailed by a huge Great Dane which unfolded itself from the back seat and stood at attention next to its master, calmly observing the proceedings.

Another observer, accompanied by a German Shepherd, viewed the scene from a safe distance near State and Niedringhaus avenues. The animal, sound from the animal came when a patrol wagon drove by and the police dog inside yapped loudly through the vehicle's screened window, evoking a barking reply from the dog on the sidewalk.

A reporter entering police headquarters at 11 p.m. Monday was surprised by the appearance at the foot of the basement stairs of a small toddler, about 18 months old. The child was barefoot and clad in a romper-style outfit. Her mother was nearby, apparently waiting for information about a suspect booked by police during the disturbance.

Disorderly Charges Filed
Arrested at 9:30 p.m. Monday on charges of disorderly conduct were: Ray Roney, 19, of 3 Tulip Court; David Thomas, 21, of 2518 Ivy Lane; Nancy M. Newberry, 18, and Linda Wilkins, 18, both of Apartment A, 2043 Edison Ave.; Darmond L. Broyles, 20, Rural Route 2, Box 1158; Mike Gracy, 18, of 2218 Edison Ave.; Richard Stark, 16, and Mike Stark, 18, both of Maryland Heights, Mo.; and Robert Carroll, 18, of 2334 Spaulding Ave.

Carl Fuller, 21, of 2218 Edison Ave.; Larry Kelly, 21, Glen Carbon; Pat Woods, 21, of 2601 E. 25th St.; Jerry McCabe, 17, Caseyville; Neil Abernathy, 18, 602 Chouteau Ave.; Mitchell, John Sheppard, 17, of 1801 Poplar St.; Gary McClelland, 21, of 822 Washington Ave.; Mike Thrasher, 22, Box 124, Mitchell; Tony George, 21, of Apartment A, 218 Edison Ave.; and Thomas Carney, 120 Douglas Place. All were released under $25 bond.

Also arrested at 9:30 p.m. Monday were: Walter Curtis, 21, of 140 Voight Place, Mitchell, and Richard Curtis, 17, of Washington Park. They were held pending hearings on disorderly conduct charges.

Twelve other youths were arrested Monday night but formal charges were not filed.

Youth Fined $15
Richard Howell, 18, Zeigler, Ill., who was arrested early Monday morning in connection with weekend disturbances was fined $155 Monday afternoon. He was charged with using profane language, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Dave DeWitt, 18, of 1336 Lindell Blvd., appeared in court at 4 p.m. Monday on a notice to appear and was released on $25 bond.

Gather at Park
A group of about 200 youths gathered peacefully at Wilson Park Tuesday night to listen to guitarist Mike Tharp and to hear David Weeks, a University of Illinois representative of the Campus Crusade for Christ. Folk and popular songs sung by Tharp and the gathering ranged from anti-war songs such as "Get Your Hands Off the Flower" to anti-social songs like "Power To The People" and even to religious songs like "Rocking My Soul." Most of the protesters sat on the grass and remained quiet while some wandered through the park.

Weeks communicated with the gathering by using expressions such as "Get your heads straight," and "Are you satisfied with yourselves?" in delivering his religious message. Some of the youths wandered away during the religious discourse but the majority stayed to listen to and pray with Weeks.

Several of the youths said the purpose of the demonstration was to stay in the park past the 10 p.m. curfew in order to work towards its repeal, but at 9:55 someone in the group shouted, "It's almost 10 o'clock. Let's get out of here before we get in trouble," and the group dispersed quietly, rose and left.

The only major problem caused by Tuesday's gathering in the park was a traffic jam as hundreds of spectators drove along 27th Street and around the park to see the gathering. Cars moved at a snail's pace and spectators jammed the sidewalk along 27th Street, apparently not wishing to cross the street and become identified with the protest.

By 10:05 the park was empty and the spectators had left. Weeks and Eric Williamson, both students at the University of Illinois, returned to Granite City for a Teen-Life meeting scheduled Tuesday at the First Assembly of God Church, which ended up holding Christian witness service at Wilson Park.

When the two learned that the church meeting was cancelled due to concern of the parents of children scheduled to attend the meeting, the two young evangelists went to the park.

At the park they gave their Christian testimony, led the group in singing, prayer and issued a call for acceptance of Christ to which 20 young people responded.

The evangelistic team also held a 4 p.m. meeting Wednesday at Wilson Park where they distributed Bibles and other religious material.

City Air Board Secretary Presented as Prosecution Witness at Hearing Today

Erwin C. Hoelscher, technical secretary of the Granite City Air Pollution Board, and Donald Cairns, assistant to the president of Granite City Steel Co., were listed as possible witnesses at today's third day of state air pollution hearings at the City Hall.

Cairns had been designated to testify at the start of today's session at 10 a.m. but the state, which has charged GC Steel with air pollution, instead asked to put Hoelscher on the stand.

Hoelscher had not been on the original list of witnesses and was being questioned late this morning by GC Steel representatives, with the hearing officer outside the room. Purpose was to determine whether the company will accept his inclusion as a witness.

The prospect was for adjournment at 5 p.m. today, with possible resumption of the case in the future.

Harlie Love, technical coordinator for environmental systems at GC Steel, was the principal witness yesterday, the second day of the hearings, which are intended to determine whether the company should be fined for alleged air pollution emissions.

Love had begun his testimony during the opening session Tuesday and was recalled by company lawyers yesterday to testify that pollution shown in state photos of the company was abnormally heavy.

Over 30 slides of smoke and flames from the blast furnace, coke ovens and sintering plant were shown and Love was repeatedly asked if the pollution was usually as heavy as shown, to which he responded unflinchingly, "No, not usually."

On one slide showing flames from two coke oven doors in the "C" battery, Love said the flames apparently were escaping from faulty oven doors.

He admitted that a leaky door allows particles to escape into the air, but declined to estimate for what period of time the doors could leak before they were repaired or were sealed by tars and particles from the escaping gas.

"As long as 17 or 18 hours?" Love was asked by the state. "I don't believe so," Love replied.

Possible Causes of Leaks
He said that the doors could be leaking because of carbon and tar buildups or because of defective door jacks.

"It is possible that defective jacks will allow pollution to escape into the atmosphere," Love said. When he was asked if there is a regular schedule of maintenance for the jacks, he replied, "I don't know of one."

He said that there are 137 coke ovens operating at the local plant but declined to speculate how many of them could be leaking at any one time.

Home Notes

By Mrs. Catherine R. Mauck
Madison County Home Extension,
Home Economics Extension
University of Illinois

AMERICAN'S FAVORITE MEAT—BEEF

It's important to know which steak cuts are best suited for cooking on the outdoor grill. Cuts from the less-used muscles along the back of the animal—the rib and loin sections—will always be more tender than those from the active muscles, such as the shoulder (chuck), flank and round.

Because the most tender cuts are in greatest demand and make up only a small proportion of the beef carcass, they command a higher price than other cuts.

This is a quick review of the "brollables":

—Tenderloin or filet mignon is the most tender of all steaks. It's boneless, has little fat and is usually sold for a higher price-per-pound than any of the other steaks. Allow 4 to 6 ounces per person.

—Porterhouse is often considered the best steak. It's generally sold at a higher price than any other bone-in steaks. Most porterhouse steaks will be too large for individual servings, but they have a generous section of tenderloin that you can remove and serve separately as filet mignon. Allow 8 to 10 ounces per serving.

—T-bone is similar in appearance to the porterhouse steak, but with a smaller tenderloin section. For generous servings, figure on 10 to 12 ounces per person.

—Club, cut from the same section as the porterhouse and T-bone, has the same large muscle. However, it has no tenderloin. Its relatively small size make the club steak well suited to individual servings.

—Strip loin, sold as a boneless cut, is a tender, flavorful steak. It contains the same large muscle as the porterhouse, T-bone and club steaks. Allow 4 to 6 ounces per serving.

—Sirloin is a large steak, suitable for family or party fare. It contains several different muscles and varies in size, shape and bone size. To get the most meat for your money, select a sirloin with a small amount of bone—either the wedge or round shape. But for maximum tenderness, buy a sirloin with a long fat bone. Sirloins are frequently cut into two boneless steaks—top and bottom. The top portion is the better of the two. Plan 8 to 10 ounces per person for bone-in sirloins.

—Rib is a tender, flavorful steak cut from the rib section. It includes the rib bone. When cut two or more ribs thick, it's sold as rib roast. Allow 8 to 10 ounces per person.

—Rib eye, a boneless steak with little fat, is cut from the eye or large muscle of the beef rib. Like the rib steak, it's tender and has a well-developed flavor. Sometimes, it's called a Delmonico steak. Figure on 4 to 6 ounces per serving.

GUIDES FOR BUYING FROZEN FISH

When buying frozen fish, select packages that are clean and a firm. Torn, crushed, stained or ice- or frost-covered containers indicate that the package may have been thawed and refrozen, which causes poor quality. Check the freezer thermometer—it should read zero degrees Fahrenheit or below. And check the odor, too. Frozen fish should have little or no odor. Strong fish odor usually means poor quality.

If the fish is wrapped in transparent paper, avoid meat displaying a yellowish discoloration. It often indicates that the product has been exposed to air, which causes a rancid flavor. White, powdery patches—freezer burn—are caused by dehydration.

THINK "SPEARS" WHEN BUYING ASPARAGUS

When selecting fresh asparagus, look for actual little "spears" with compact, close sharp tips. If the spears are spreading or drooping in a wilt, you'll know that considerable time has elapsed since they were cut. Because asparagus doesn't keep well, serve it as soon as possible after buying it.

TURN STEAKS WITH TONGS

Regardless of where you prefer to broil your steaks—outdoors or inside—turn them with tongs. A fork pierces the meat and permits the juices to escape.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD MOTHER-DAUGHTER DINNER

A mother and daughter banquet was held this week at Kirkpatrick Recreation center by Junior Girl Scout Troop 29 and 704 from Webster school. As guests arrived they signed a guest book and were escorted to their seats by the scouts.

The tables were decorated with fresh-cut flower centerpieces and at each place setting was a tile shaped basket containing daisies. The head table followed the same floral arrangement with a caged lattice centerpiece in vivid pink. Mrs. Pat Eaton, co-leader of Troop 29 gave the welcoming address and introduced special guests, Mrs. Virginia Marlette, district 4 chairman; Mrs. Doris Stotz, neighborhood 3 chairman; Mrs. Eva Arbogast, leader of Troop 29, and leaders of Troop 704, Mrs. Mae Lee and Mrs. Betty Van Gilder.

A flag ceremony opened the program with caller, Becky Schorffelde, flag bearer, Lisa Williams, and color guards, Janice Van Gilder and Nancy Watkins. Entertainment provided by the scouts was a song festival led by Troop 704 that included "Cabin in the Woods," and "Found a Peanut." Troop 29 performed a "pillowcase" dance to the tune of "Little Red Riding Hood," and they sang, "Three Little Angels."

A court of awards was conducted by Troop 29 and the following scouts were presented badges: Belinda Sipes and Mandie Walker, housekeeper, needlecraft, cook, health aid, sign of the arrow, and my troop. Belinda also received gypsy and community safety awards, and Mandie, backyard fun; Michelle Thomason, sign of the arrow, sign of the star, needlecraft, and my troop; Terry Hutchinson, sign of arrow, my troop, health, and safety; Gayle Norris, cook, housekeeper, my home, my troop, needlecraft, and sign of arrow.

Joyce Jones, my troop; Lynn and Donna Smith, cook; Priscilla Long, cook, sign of arrow, gypsy, my home, my troop, and health aid; Janette Childers, sign of arrow, my troop, cook, and needlecraft, and Laura Arbogast, who recently bridged to Cadette Troop 5, received a five-year pin, sign of arrow, sign of star, active citizen, needlecraft, and my troop. All the scouts and Debbie Weber and Robin Barnes received art in the round and my troops own ceramics.

The scouts presented Mrs. Arbogast and Mrs. Eaton with gifts and Troop 29 and Troop 704 presented Mrs. Stotz with a coming address and accepted Janet Kaempel, Donna Kief, Carla Morris, Kim Page, Maria White and Carolyn Wilson as they "crossed the bridge."

Wife of Missing Serviceman Leaves for Geneva, Paris

A delegation of more than 165 wives and relatives of missing and imprisoned American servicemen will leave Dulles Airport, Washington, D.C., at 9 p.m. tomorrow on a special mission to Geneva, Switzerland, Paris and other world capitals.

In the group will be Mrs. Sandy (Noth) Innes, wife of Navy Lt. (jg) Roger B. Innes, who has been missing in action in Vietnam since Dec. 27, 1967. Mrs. Innes, who left Granite City for Washington yesterday, is accompanied on the trip by her sister-in-law, Miss Gail Times of Chicago.

Two other women in the delegation, representing families in Illinois with men who are missing in action or prisoners of war, are Mrs. Nancy Pershio of Quincy and Mrs. Carol Plasmeyer of Belleville.

Objectives of the delegation are two-fold, Mrs. Innes explained before her departure. To seek support from all countries for provisions of the Geneva Convention and to ask the North Vietnamese and NLF delegations for a firm commitment regarding release of prisoners of war so that the way can be cleared for withdrawal of U.S. troops from Indochina.

Geneva Convention Appeal

The group will travel first to Switzerland to appeal for support for the Geneva Convention. The international agreement will be the subject of a meeting Monday in the Swiss city of international legal experts representing more than 30 countries.

The session will be held under the auspices of the International Committee of the Red Cross. Among the countries which have indicated they will send representatives are the United States, the Soviet Union and East Germany, Mrs. Innes said.

Members of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia will call on delegates to the ICRC meeting seeking their help in insuring that all nations comply with the Geneva Convention, which was signed by all parties to the conflict in Vietnam.

Mrs. Joan Vinson, national coordinator of the League of Families, said today, "We hope to express our concern for all prisoners of war and for all those affected by the conflict in Vietnam."

"We hope the countries represented at this meeting will resolve to demand impartial inspection of all POW camps, a complete accounting of all prisoners and those missing, immediate release of the sick and wounded and that mail flow be in accordance with the provisions of the Geneva Convention."

To Go to Paris

The second major phase of the trip will take more than 100 of the family members to Paris next Wednesday, where they hope to meet with North Vietnamese and Provisional Revolutionary Government representatives.

"Our purpose will be to appeal for a firm commitment for release of prisoners of war held by them and their allies, which would clear the way for total withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam," Mrs. Vinson said.

Those traveling to Paris are motivated by President Nixon's statement on April 29 that "as far as any action on our part of ending American involvement completely, and that means a total withdrawal is concerned, that will have to be delayed until we get not just the promise to discuss the release of our prisoners, but a commitment to release our prisoners..."

Such a commitment from the other side, the wives and relatives feel, could lead to an immediate breakthrough in settling the war. They also will urge acceptance of the Swedish government's offer to intern all POW's of the Vietnam conflict.

Members of the family group will travel to other European cities, to visit government officials, embassy delegations and local offices of the ICRC in quest for support.

Most of those making the trip tomorrow are paying all of their own expenses, including in this group Mrs. Innes and her sister-in-law, who are paying $350 each for the one week trip.

Several MIA-POW wives, however, have received support from local citizens groups in their home areas toward cost of the journey.

The Illinois delegation also has been assigned to travel to Madrid, Spain, as their secondary target city before returning home.

LT. Innes, a U.S. Navy flier, was reported missing in action in Vietnam in December, 1967. He had arrived on a U.S. aircraft carrier off the coast of Vietnam just five days before his plane disappeared on an overland mission.

Fr. Walter Lecko Is Rotary Speaker

Father Walter Lecko of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church of Madison was the guest speaker at the noon meeting of the Madison Rotary Club Wednesday at the Madison Recreation Center.

Father Lecko, who served his church in Alaska for over five years, showed slides of the land and activities of the people in the 56th state, known as the "Land of the Totem Pole".

Madison Rotarians are selling fire extinguishers at $2.50 each to raise funds for charitable activities of the club.

The annual installation of officers and ladies night has been scheduled at the Roundtable Restaurant near Collinsville June 30. It was announced by Wayne Scannell, chairman of the event.

Cupcakes are being brought to the park.

Mrs. Reva Turner, president of the PTA, has announced that each room at Logan and Logan Annex has been given $40 to buy games, books and other items. The picnic and the classroom funds were made possible by the annual candy sale.

Regional Report -- Road Hiring, New Buses, Music Fest, Airport Sites, Dental School

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)

It was a week of court decisions in this region: In Springfield, U. S. District Judge Omer Poos upheld the legality of the Ogilvie Plan for bringing minority groups into the highway construction industry in Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The federal court decision has as yet had no effect on highway work in the area, according to Assistant District Highway Engineer Harold Gegel.

In another court decision, Associate Circuit Judge Howard Lee White ruled that the election of new trustees for the East Side Levee and Sanitary District will be held as scheduled. Five trustees three from St. Clair County and two from Madison County, are to be elected June 22 from candidates qualified for the general election in the May primaries.

A preview of 48 new luxury buses which will be added to the BI-State Transit System fleet was held at the company's two Illinois operating division headquarters.

The new buses, purchased through grants from the state of Illinois and the U. S. Department of Transportation, will be added to service on Illinois lines. All the new vehicles are equipped with two-way radios and the latest emission control features.

The Monroe County Board of Commissioners has approved a zoning change to permit construction of a pharmaceutical plant north of Columbia. Lake Products Co. of South St. Louis County sought the zoning change. The 122-acre tract, now mostly farmland, straddles the St. Clair-Monroe Counties line near the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad.

The 80 acres in Monroe County eventually will be subdivided for several light industrial firms. There are no plans for the 42-acre St. Clair County portion.

Details of this year's Mississippi River Festival were announced. A program featuring Van Cliburn and the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will open the festival on July 10.

The Cliburn concert will be one of six classical programs in the festival series. In addition, there will be six pop concerts and 11 folk, pop and rock concerts.

Peter Pastreich, managing director of the festival, announced that a new tent will be purchased by Mississippi River Festival, Inc. The newly-designed tent will be attached to the permanent acoustical shell being constructed to protect the stage and sound equipment.

A survey team, hired by the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industry under a state legislative grant, pinpointed a possibly preferable airport site in St. Charles County about 37 miles west of St. Louis as an alternative to the Waterloo-Columbia, Ill., site.

In another move in the controversy over selection of a site for the proposed new metropolitan St. Louis airport, U. S. Senator Symington (D, Missouri) accused Illinois officials of trying to "railroad" fast approval for an Illinois site and urged seven airlines to refrain from signing, for the present, any commitments to use such an airport.

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D, Edwardsville) introduced a bill appropriating $1 million for construction of the first phase of a new dental school for Southern Illinois University's Southwestern campus.

The bill follows the recommendation of the Illinois Board of Higher Education. Up to two-thirds of the amount eventually could be financed by the government.

First-stage construction of a $30 million lock and dam to replace the ailing 35-year-old Alton Lock and Dam Number 26 could begin by mid-1972, according to a projected schedule of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Rep. George E. Shipley (D, Illinois) will testify on the merits of the lock project before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works on May 27. The bill before the committee requests $1.45 million for advanced engineering and design for the Alton project.

In general area news, the Glen Carbon village board passed the town's zoning ordinance; a group of businessmen has applied for a permit to organize a bank in Maryville; O'Fallon is studying the possibility of expanding its city hall.

In Belleville, the new West Belle Medical Building at 7210 West Main St. is scheduled to be occupied; Col. Charles E. Zoning Board of Appeals.

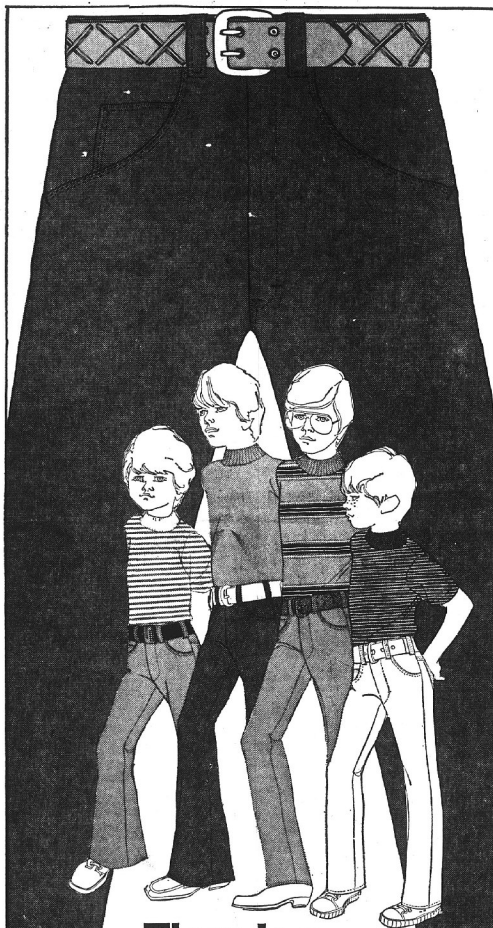

Shannon has been named base commander and commander of the 140th Air Base Wing at Scott Air Force Base; Stanley Sieron of Belleville is the new president of Illinois Jaycees.

Dr. Abraham Simon, superintendent of Alton State Hospital for 24 years, retired May 15; and F. W. Davis was elected chairman of the Edwardsville Zoning Board of Appeals.

Bassett Vice-Chairman Of Insurance Advisors

John R. Bassett, certified life underwriter, general agent for the Ohio National Life Insurance Co. in Granite City, has been elected vice-chairman of the company's Field Advisory Board, a select group of company men who act as liaison between the home office and field. The exercise involves more than 60 ships, ranging in size from aircraft carriers to fast patrol boats, and 300 aircraft from the U. S., Greece, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

During the exercise, the combined NATO force will perform simulated wartime air strikes, anti-submarine warfare tactics, air defense, surveillance, and amphibious operations.

Book on Patton by Former Press-Record Staff Writer

History calls World War II's Battle of the Bulge the last German offensive on the Western Front (December 1944 and January 1945) during which Germans under von Rundstedt in a surprise attack broke through the American front in the Belgian Ardennes, creating a "bulge" in Allied lines.

That the assault was a surprise is refuted in a new book, "G-2: Intelligence for Patton," written from vast material gathered by General George S. Patton's chief of intelligence, the late Brig. General Oscar W. Koch, who died in May 1970.

Robert G. Hays, a former Press-Record newsman now a doctoral student at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, labored over the material with Koch for three years, editing and rewriting manuscripts and compiling the book.

He said one chapter, "Fog of War," should provide beyond reasonable doubt, even though the higher command ignored reports, the Third Army intelligence staff not only knew of the German buildup in the Ardennes but detailed it in published intelligence reports. The staff specifically predicted the coming offensive that became known as the Battle of the Bulge.

The 400-page hard-bound volume is scheduled for publication this October by the Army Times Publishing Co., Washington, D. C.

Koch, who lived to see the book finished, and his wife resided in Carbondale for several years prior to his death. Mrs. Koch, a Carbondale native, now resides in Orlando, Fla.

Hays, a native of White County, Ill., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hays, reside on Carmi Route Four, said that when he and Gen. Koch began putting together the book in 1967, he soon learned Koch had been working under two handicaps: (1) His deep and lasting respect and admiration for General Patton; and (2) Koch's own modesty.

"Because of the first," Hays said, "Gen. Koch was reluctant to stress the Patton ties lest he be accused of 'using the Old Man's name' to promote his own interest. Because of the second, he had limited the use of illustrations from his own remarkably rich experience."

Koch had served with Patton at Fort Riley, Kan., in the peaceful years preceding World War II, and was called by Patton to be his chief of staff in the invasion of Morocco.

Combat Intelligence School. He then became Patton's chief intelligence officer for the remainder of the war. Following the conflict, Koch organized and directed the first peacetime combat intelligence school in the history of the U. S. Army.

The book contains a prologue and 13 chapters. Two chapters tell of Patton's invasion of Africa, the advance intelligence planning, and of the part intelligence played in Patton's actions against Rommel's forces in North Africa.

Two others describe the planning for the Sicily invasion, even before the North African campaign was ended, and the drive across Sicily.

Ensuing chapters describe planning in England for the cross-channel invasion and the Third Army strike across France, which led up to chapters on the Battle of the Bulge.

Surrender by Germany. Other segments take up the German surrender, the makeup of men on Patton's intelligence staff, summation of combat intelligence methods and techniques developed during World War II, and a portrait of Patton, "that colorful and controversial American general as I knew him."

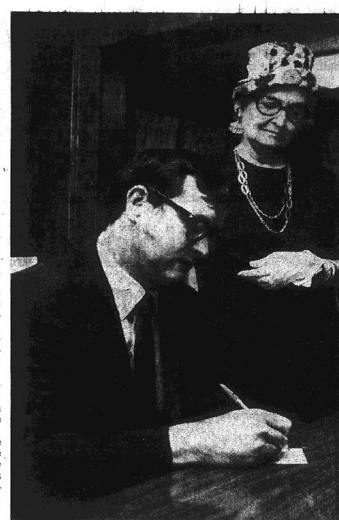

Hays, whose doctoral work is in government and journalism, obtained his bachelor's degree from SIU in 1961 after U. S. Army Service.

He reported for the Press-Record from 1961 to 1963 and then returned to the university to write for SIU News Services.

He edited the periodical, SIU Alumnus, from 1966 to 1970, when he resigned to study and write.

Hays of Southern Illinois University, who collaborated with her husband in writing "G-2: Intelligence for Patton," scheduled for publication this fall. Mrs. Koch now resides in Orlando, Fla. Rev. Orton Assisting Augustana Campaign

The St. Louis area phase of the Augustana College Partnership Program was launched at a dinner meeting last night in St. Louis. John L. Kindschuh, Augustana's vice-president for administration, told alumni and friends that the program is an effort to raise $12 million for the Rock Island-based college over a three-year period.

Kindschuh explained that the program is designed to meet the most urgent needs of the college today. He identified these needs as:

- 1) To maintain a high educational level, through development and retention of able and dedicated faculty.
- 2) To make scholarships available to worthy students.
- 3) To provide necessary tools and equipment for use by both the teacher and the learner.

An alumnus, Vincent A. Bergman, St. Louis, presided. He reported that plans for raising more than $600,000 have already been received toward the national goal.

Robert E. Carlson, college development officer, introduced a new Augustana film, "No Easy Way Out." Members of the area committee, in addition to Bergman, are: William G. Evans, Florissant; Wayne D. Fields, University City; Terry L. Klocke, St. Louis; and the Rev. Franklin Orton, 3201 Erin Drive, Granite City.

St. Elizabeth Parish To Observe 100th Year

Centennial celebration plans are being made by St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

On Oct. 1, 1871, a cornerstone was laid in Mitchell, bringing the S.S. Elizabeth parish into existence.

In the intervening century, the growth of St. Elizabeth has paralleled the growth of the Quad-City area.

In the first 50 years of the parish, 15 priests (not counting assistants) were associated with St. Elizabeth's; in the last 50 years there have been only two: Father McKough and Father Lawrence Mattingly, the present pastor.

To Fr. Mattingly fell the assignment of relocating the site of the church to the larger Granite City location of today, Penton and Johnson Roads.

A spokesman has commented that "truly, considering the success and growth of our parish over the span of a century, we have good reason to celebrate."

Accordingly, Fr. Mattingly has appointed a Centennial Committee and since January it has been busy planning a "centennial week" in October.

Ideas for the celebration have been gathered from many sources, including a survey made at all the Masses one Sunday early in the year.

Nine-Day Program

The centennial program, as finally agreed upon, is as follows:

On Saturday, Oct. 2, the celebration will begin with a Mass followed by a free catered dinner for the members of the parish. This event has Helen Fawcett as its chairman.

Sunday, Oct. 3, will be an Ecumenical Day, with the public invited to an open house being arranged by Reginald Menerick.

One Mass on this day is being set aside for all parishioners who have been married 25 years or more, with special recognition of couples celebrating their 25th and 50th wedding anniversaries in 1971. The Mass arrangements are being handled by John Klesh.

Tuesday, Oct. 5, is an adult fun night to be sponsored jointly by the Altar Society and Holy Name Society. T. A. Feeler and Joan Chilbert are co-chairmen.

Wednesday, Oct. 6, is the night for Catholic Youth Organization Blackouts. The young people will put on an intentionally mixed display of "talent and untalent," adding up to a night of entertainment. Jim Dutchik Jr. is "carrying the ball."

Friday, Oct. 8, is School Night, when the children at St. Elizabeth's School will present a program. "This should be a high spot and we expect to have many guests."

Saturday, Oct. 9, will be the night for Catholic Youth Organization Blackouts. The young people will put on an intentionally mixed display of "talent and untalent," adding up to a night of entertainment. Jim Dutchik Jr. is "carrying the ball."

Sunday, Oct. 10, will climax the celebration with a formal dinner for Bishop William O'Connor of Springfield. Invitations for this dinner will be extended to all clergy in the Diocese, other dignitaries, and local and state officials. The event is being planned by Ann Pare.

A souvenir centennial book, giving the history of the parish, is being prepared under the direction of Charles Henry.

Decorations of the church will be taken care of by Juliana Heidebeck.

The committee is also planning to take part in both the park board 50th anniversary and Granite City 75th year observances as appropriate, as a means of calling further attention to the St. Elizabeth celebration. Henry Gabriel is acting as liaison.

Emma Jakich is the committee secretary and J. P. Busch is assistant chairman. Many others will be taking part in the program developments.

Saturday, Oct. 9, will be the day of an old-fashioned parish dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Jack Trittschuh is chairman.

Dinner for Bishop Sunday, Oct. 10, will climax the celebration with a formal dinner for Bishop William O'Connor of Springfield. Invitations for this dinner will be extended to all clergy in the Diocese, other dignitaries, and local and state officials. The event is being planned by Ann Pare.

City Committee Selection Challenged

Who selects city council committees? The question became a major point of heated argument during a meeting of the Granite City council Monday night in which two aldermen resigned their original committee assignments and an unsuccessful effort was made to block the assignment of an alderman to fill one of the vacancies on the important Finance Committee.

The controversy over the make-up of the three-man Finance Committee developed after Alderman Sam Whitmer said he had not been consulted on committee selections which were announced in a mimeographed list distributed to council members in their meeting May 3.

Whitmer asked several other aldermen if they had any part in making up the committees and received negative answers. "This is what bothers me," Whitmer said. "The committees are supposed to be chosen by agreement of the council members . . . that means 14 aldermen, not just three or four who get together and make up a list." Whitmer said he was unaware of committee assignments until he first saw the list at the May 3 meeting.

Mayor Names Chairmen
The argument over committee assignments developed after Mayor Donald Partney announced his appointment of chairmen for the committees named by the council two weeks ago. Under a court ruling of several years ago defining the separate authorities of the mayor and the council in setting up committees, the council selects the committee memberships and the mayor names the chairman of each committee.

After the mayor released his appointments, Alderman Gerald Partney announced his resignation as a member of the Finance Committee and the Special Negotiating Committee. Partney had announced when the committee list first was announced on May 3 that he had no intention of serving on those two committees.

The original Finance Committee included Partney, Whitmer and Alderman Thomas Boker. Mayor Partney named Boker as chairman.

Alderman R. E. Robertson protested Partney's withdrawal from two of the committees and said he believed all aldermen should serve. Alderman Clyde Boyd said he believed that any repercussions to the committee lineup should have been made in the previous meeting two weeks ago. Partney reminded Boyd that in that meeting he had announced he would not serve on the Finance or Negotiating Committees.

Rutledge Quits Post
Alderman Paul Rutledge who had been named a member of the Special Negotiating Committee announced that since Partney was resigning from the negotiating unit, he also intended to resign that committee.

"We once had a good standing committee that handled negotiations but the council decided to do away with it," Rutledge said. The committee is expected to handle negotiations with union employees in development of new working agreements this year.

Rutledge pointed out that city finances are expected to present a critical problem this year, and noted that the council has received only four financial reports from the controller and the mayor during the 1971-72 fiscal year that ended April 30. Rutledge's resignation from the Special Negotiating Committee left two vacancies in that unit. Whitmer remarked at this point that "whoever made up these committees didn't do a very good job. None of us (Boker, Whitmer or Partney) have ever served on the Finance Committee."

"This is going to be a critical year. This committee will be called upon to produce new revenue and meet some serious financial problems. They should have put someone with experience on the Finance Committee."

Moves for Appointment
Whitmer moved that Partney's resignation from the Finance Committee be accepted and that the council appoint Rutledge (a former finance chairman) to the vacancy on the Finance Committee.

Alderman Steve Basarich said the motion was out of order and commented that "all aldermen should serve on the committees to which they were named."

Mayor Partney did not recognize Basarich's claim that the motion was out of order and on a roll call vote Whitmer's motion was approved 12 to 2, with Robertson and Claude Green voting against it. All council members were present. Partney then moved that Alderman Paul Schuler, who previously had not been named to any committee, be assigned to one of the vacancies on the negotiating committee. Boker moved for appointment of Alderman William Dallas to the other vacancy on the Special Negotiating Committee. Both proposals were approved unanimously.

Committee Lineups
The council's action resulted in the following committees for the 1971-72 fiscal year, with the first named serving as chairman:

Finance—Boker, Rutledge and Whitmer; Ordinance—Roy Poulos, Basarich and Walter Norn; Street and Alley—Norn, Boyd and Green; Police—Everett Morlen, Poulos and Robertson; Fire and Water—Boyd, Dawes and Robertson; Sanitary—Dallas, Norn and Robertson; Traffic—Whitmer, Dallas and Morlen.

Special Intergovernmental—Partney, Boyd and Dallas; Board of Local Improvements—Mayor Partney, Superintendent of Streets Lionell Portell, Norn and Rutledge; Zoning and Planning—Dawes, Morlen and Poulos; Air Pollution—Basarich, Boker and Rutledge; Pollution Plant—Green, Morlen and Norn.

Special Sewer—Rutledge, Dawes and Partney; Human Relations—Green, Boker and Rutledge; Light—Basarich, Dallas and Green; Printing—Boker, Morlen and Whitmer; Co-extensive Township—Rutledge, Boker and Poulos; Special Negotiation—Boker, Dallas and Schuler; City Buildings—Boyd, Basarich and Dawes.

New Licenses Will Go On Trucks During June

Initial mailing of 1971-72 truck license plates has begun, and Secretary of State John W. Lewis announced that distribution of the plates is 14 days ahead of last year. He cautioned that, according to state law, plates cannot be displayed on trucks until June 1.

Deadline for display of plates, which will have black letters on an orange background, is June 30. Many of the early mailings are for truck plates requesting reassignment on pre-printed applications, the first time this service has been provided for trucks. Secretary Lewis said that field applications are available throughout the state.

Child Week Proclaimed By Governor Ogilvie

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has proclaimed this week as "The Week of the Young Child" in regional offices at 310 North Tenth St., East St. Louis and activities of The Illinois Association for the Education of Young Children.

The proclamation states that the importance of the observance "is undeniable since the future of our nation depends on the way our children are reared. This awesome responsibility belongs, first of all, to parents. Only when economic, physical or other circumstances prevent an adequate home life, should this responsibility be delegated entirely to others."

A Batik painting, "Ozark Autumn," the work of the late Tanasko Milovich, a St. Louis artist, is now displayed in the Missouri Room of the University Center, at Southern Illinois University—Southwestern Campus.

The art work was purchased by and presented to the university by the Granite City Branch, American Association of University Women, in ceremonies at the center last week.

The gift was accepted by Robert Handy, University Center director.

An interested observer at the presentation was the artist's widow, Mrs. Catherine Estelle Milovich, an associate professor in the SIU-SW Department of Art and Design.

An educator, painter and designer craftsman, Mrs. Milovich is involved in exhibitions of paintings and crafts, primarily in textiles and enamels.

She has been active in the St. Louis Artists Guild since 1935 and recently was elected president of the Guild's board of governors for 1971-72, a position only once before held by a woman since the Guild was founded in 1905.

Her late husband, who worked 40 years in the Batik medium and is considered by critics as having raised Batik from a purely decorative art to a fine art form, died in 1964.

He was born in a remote mountain area of Herzegovina, Yugoslavia, and emigrated to the United States when 14.

Indians Topic Of Travelers

Travelers Abroad held their annual banquet at the Rose Bowl this week. Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Johnson gave an illustrated lecture based on their extended visit to three Indian reservations in northern Wisconsin, near Lake Superior, which contains 4,000 Indians of 17 tribes.

Although the 4,000 dwell in poverty, they are far better off than the 10,000 Indians now huddled in Chicago slums, the speaker said, adding that there is growing militancy.

The militancy is based on the belief that Americans broke 400 treaties with Indians in past years; Indians charge that at present poachers are entering reservation swamps at night and stealing valuable crops of wild rice, the Madison couple reported.

Both Christopher Columbus and Gen. George Guster are hated by most Indians, the club was told.

New members received were Denton Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Emil A. Mueller. Guests included Mrs. Clara Hoebeck, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Caver, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Miller and Dr. Amos Rode.

The next meeting will be a pot luck supper at the home of Col. and Mrs. Charles Schweitzer in Glen Carbon June 13.

Nurses Will Graduate from St. Joseph's School, Alton

Three Quad-Cityans are among the 23 who will be graduating from St. Joseph's School of Nursing of Alton on Sunday, May 23. They are:

Miss Catherine Hahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pelate, 2573 Stratford Lane.

Miss Kathleen Pace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pace, 1229 Klein St., Venice.

Miss Karen Pelate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pelate, 2573 Stratford Lane.

The graduation ceremonies, to be held at St. Mary's Church in Alton, will begin at 2 p.m. with a Mass offered by the Rev. Joseph P. McNamara, Oblate Fathers Novitiate, Godfrey. He also will give the graduation address.

Youths Have More Than Ever to Spend

Youths today have more to spend than ever before. It is estimated that in 1970 boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 19 spent nearly $21 billion.

They bought 30% of the soft drinks consumed, 80% of the single photograph records, 44% of all cameras, 27% of the cosmetics and 9% of new automobiles.

Where and how do they learn to make wise buying decisions? How do they decide what is the best quality for their money's worth?

Over a million and a quarter teenage boys and girls are finding that an excellent place to get buying know-how is by participating in the 4-H consumer education-home economics program.

Montgomery Ward, one of the nation's oldest and largest retail companies, sponsors the program nationally. The company has supported 4-H for 49 consecutive years.

The program encompasses all phases of consumer education in projects directly related to the home, such as clothing, food preservation, food-nutrition, home improvement, home management, family life and personal development, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H activities.

The wide application of consumer education allows teens to discover that as consumers they must make enumerable decisions everyday.

Decision-making also is being learned through special consumer games used in various areas of the county. The games are fast paced and competitive and learning is made easy. Things like learning to use credit and how to plan ahead for larger purchases provide the teenager with knowledge he will need for the remainder of his life.

Agency Supervisors to Meet SIU Students

Supervisors from 25 community agencies have been invited to meet with social welfare students and faculty members of Southern Illinois University-Southern Monday.

Representatives of the community service agencies and students who have field experience with those agencies annually convene on the campus.

According to Prof. Robert Ashpole, SIU-SW, the group will discuss the content of the community agency experience and agency-university responsibility in preparing students for entry level employment in the agencies.

There will be a panel presentation as well as small group discussions on student preparation, agency-student-client involvement, university-agency coordination and student evaluation.

Agencies will include welfare, health, corrections and recreation. Currently 39 SIU-SW students are participating in the practicum, in which they spend one day a week for one or two quarters with individual agencies.

The above rates are listed in such a way as to affect the majority of property owners in the separate taxing areas. For taxpayers living with the boundaries of different governmental agencies, the overall rates will vary accordingly.

Persons living in the Long Lake Fire District in Namooki Township should add 15.8 cents to other rates to determine their local rate. Those in the Miracle Manor-Belleme Place Lightning District should add 12.5 cents. In State Park Place, taxpayers of the Lightning District should add 12.5 cents.

Venice residents who live in the Granite City School District should apply that school rate instead of the Venice rate. In all cases the overall rate can be determined by adding the rates of governmental districts in which the taxpayer lives.

The overall rates are applicable to each 100 assessed valuation.

Dennis Gillie To Serve As Brazil Missionary

Dennis L. Gillie, a 1970 graduate of Granite City High School, has been called to serve a two-year mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) in the Central Brazil Mission at Sao Paulo.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Gillie, 24 Oaklawn Drive, presently attends Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, where he is majoring in accounting. He will enter the Church Missionary Home June 5 for one week of orientation followed by eight weeks in the language school at Provo to learn Portuguese. He will begin serving in Brazil in August.

During four years of high school he attended church seminary from 6 a.m. to 7 a.m. daily, studying the new and old testaments, the Book of Mormon and church history.

While in Brazil he will pay his own expenses as Mormon missionaries receive no salary or expense money. He has been saving for the mission since he was old enough to learn the importance of serving the Lord, he said.

Every Mormon Missionary serves two years, usually starting when they are between 19 and 25 years of age. He was called to serve by Joseph Fielding Smith, president of the church.

While at Granite City High School, Gillie was president of the school band and was a member of the school track team and the National Honor Society.

3 Post Bond After Arrest In Madison

Donald Ray Hurst, 25, David Edmond Dickens, 28, and Larry Dickens, 36, all of Collinsville, were placed under bond in Granite City court Tuesday on charges stemming from their arrest at 13th and State streets in Madison at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Hurst pleaded guilty to driving with an expired driver's license and was fined $35. He was placed under $170 bond on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, illegal transportation of alcoholic liquor and speeding.

The Dickens men were placed under bond of $135 each on the charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and transportation of liquor charges. A girl in the auto was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Tax Rates Hiked Throughout Quad-Cities

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Generally increased tax rates throughout the four townships of the Quad-City area—with hikes ranging as high as 42.8 cents per $100 assessed valuation for taxpayers in the city of Madison.

We're announced today by County Clerk Eulalia Hotz, extension of new tax rates for the 1970 tax year, on which tax bills will be announced soon.

Miss Hotz said taxpayers living within the corporate limits of the city of Madison will pay taxes on the biggest tax increase of any other area this year.

This billing is based on an overall tax rate for all six taxing districts of Granite City township amounting to $5.703 per $100 of assessments, compared to an aggregate rate of $5.47 for the 1969 tax year for which taxes were payable last year.

Rate extensions announced by the county clerk show substantial boosts in the combined rates of all Quad-City areas where taxpayers live in a number of tax districts and therefore pay tax bills on the basis of rates for each of the tax agencies in which they live.

All Rates Extended

Because all rates now have been computed against the 1969 property assessments, tax extensions within Namooki, Venice and Chouteau townships and completion of the tax books for those townships and the tax agencies lying within the townships will be announced soon.

Miss Hotz said taxpayers living within the corporate limits of the city of Madison will pay taxes on the biggest tax increase of any other area this year. The combined rate for six tax districts within the city of Madison totals $5.285 per $100 assessed valuation, up from the 1969 tax rate of $4.857 for those same districts.

In seven tax districts lying within the corporate limits of Venice, taxpayers will pay a new combined tax rate of $5.285, a rise of 17.6 cents per $100 valuation over last year's rate of $4.519.

In the Village of Pontoon Beach, even though the village makes no corporate levy, the combined rate for seven tax districts amounts to $5.001 per $100 assessment this year, up 22.2 cents from last year's combined rate of $4.779.

Five tax districts in Namooki township reside, have a new combined rate of $4.843, an increase of 16.4 cents over last year's rate extension of $4.679.

In Chouteau township, the taxpayers living within six tax districts that encompass the major part of the area will pay taxes on a combined rate of $5.021, up 21.8 cents from the 1969 rate of $4.803 on which bills were based last year.

Tax Bill Drops
In Granite City township, the total tax bill of $9,678,533 includes $9,021,739 in locally extended taxes and $656,794 billed against the railroad. Railroad taxes are not collected locally, but are paid to the county treasurer. The total tax bill is a decrease of $204,000 below last year's aggregate bill due primarily to a reduction of $681,235 in the assessed valuation.

The 1970 assessed valuation has been set at $169,726,952 because of reductions in personal property valuations exempted by legislative acts, and household exemptions on real estate. Miss Hotz pointed out that her office left the Homestead Exemptions in the assessment books on the advice of the state's attorney's office, even though the Illinois Supreme Court has held the exemptions unconstitutional.

Because of generally reduced property valuations in all townships, it is possible that while tax rates have increased, the total tax bill of each area may be lower than last year, or at least near the same level. When assessments are decreased, rates automatically increase to make up the amount of money levied by the taxing districts. In many instances, however, the rates are limited according to state law and cannot be increased. Such funds therefore face a probable deficit in matching revenue against needed outgo.

Rates in Granite City increased on an overall basis primarily because of School District 189. Its new rate is $3.466 per $100 assessed valuation, 13.6 cents from last year's $3.33.

The school district covers a much greater area than Granite township and had an assessment loss estimated at more than $10 million. Other Granite City rates are: city, $1.012, down from $1.044; Park district, 23.6 cents, up from 19.4 cents; township, 18.6 cents, up from 14.5 cents; county, 35 cents, down slightly from 35.5 cents; and the East Side Levee District, 45.3, up from 40.2 cents.

Madison Tax Rates

In the corporate area of Madison where taxpayers will pay a total rate of $5.285, the highest in the city's history, the bulk of the increase was in the city tax rate which is fixed at $1.523 per $100 valuation, a rise of 19.2 cents per $100 valuation.

Madison school district 12 has a new rate of $2.065, up from $2.598 and Venice township rate, applicable to all residents, is 25.6 cents, up from 19.3 cents. Other rates applicable to the corporate area of Madison are: county, 35 cents down from 35.5 levee district, 45.3 cents, up from 40.2 cents; and road bridge, 3.8 cents, up from 3.2 cents.

Venice, which suffered a serious setback in valuation for the 1970 year, has a new city rate of 1.16, up from $1.131, and a School District 3 rate of $2.88, up from $2.838.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., May 20, 1971 Page 41

The Pontoon Beach tax rate increased primarily because it lies within School District 9 and therefore must pay its school rate. The Long Lake Fire district rate applicable to taxpayers in the village jumped, however, from 10 cents last year to 15.8 cents this year.

Kindergarten Registration Lagging Below Last Year

Registration of children who will enter kindergarten in Granite City next September still has not reached a total comparable to last year's figures, according to School Superintendent
 B. J. Davis.

Parents are urged to contact the school their child will attend where arrangements will be made to register the youngster. Questions concerning which school a child will attend can be answered by Dale C.
 Ren, assistant to the superintendent, at 876-6600.

Complete registration in advance of school opening is important to both the taxpayers and parents so the school board may accurately anticipate needs for the program in hiring the regional number of teachers and providing sufficient rooms.

 Any child who will be 5 years of age on or before Dec. 31 this year is eligible to enroll in kindergarten class. Classes are half-day sessions and are held at each local elementary school.
 A birth certificate should be presented at the time of registration and must be presented before actual attendance can begin in the fall. Physical examination and immunization requirements will be explained at the time of registration.

Six GC School Buildings Slated for Remodeling

Several major remodeling projects to be completed during the summer months at six Granite City school buildings.

Heubner said that major changes involve construction of a materials learning center on the stage area at Niedringhaus Grade School, designed to provide the equivalent of an additional classroom, and removal of the stage and erecting a storage room in its place at Frohardt School.

Between eight and 10 ceilings must be installed in various buildings and new fluorescent lights to replace the incandescent fixtures is another improvement slated this year.

To Purchase Fans

In other action, the board approved a request from Stallings PTA to purchase fans for classrooms and granted permission to Girl Scout troops 483 and 482 to hold a mother-daughter banquet in the Stallings building Thursday, May 27.

Authorization also was given Granite City Association for Retarded to use the large kindergarten room and gym at Niedringhaus School for the annual day camp for retarded children. The organization will sponsor the program for area youngsters June 14-25.

Speaking in behalf of the Diamond Jubilee Committee, Board Member A. L. Metcalf discussed possible use of school facilities and participation by student council members to Jubilee events.

Specific use of facilities was not cited by Metcalf who said, "The Jubilee Committee is thinking in terms of a 'Youth Day' with students preparing and running the whole show for one day."

"We realize school will not be in session at the time of the celebration, but the committee wanted to get the feeling of the board on participation by students in such an activity," Metcalf said. He noted that planning for 'Youth Day' could start prior to the current school term ending and told the board that $400 has been allocated for expenses in connection with the program.

No objections were raised by the board to the proposal. It was suggested the Jubilee Committee submit a specific plan, when prepared, for formal approval. Permission was granted to distribute questionnaires to students at Logan and Washington schools relating to organizing cooking classes for boys and girls from the West Granite area during the summer months. The classes will be sponsored by the Madison County Home Extension Service, Supt. of Schools B. J. Davis explained.

Post Corp. Increases Insurance Ownership

Post Corp., owner of the Press-Record, has increased its interest in All-Star Insurance Corp., an excess/surplus lines underwriter in Milwaukee, to 99.5%.

Post acquired a 55% interest in All-Star in 1969 and later that year increased its holdings to more than 97% through a tender offer. On Dec. 31, 1970, Post held 97.4% of the insurer's stock.

At the April 2 All-Star stockholders' meeting, Post voted its All-Star stock for a reverse split of one share for every 200 held, and eliminated fractional shares. The reverse split increased the par value from $5 to $1,000 per share. Holders of fractional shares were issued scrip certificates and permitted to combine them to make whole shares if they wished.

Minority stockholders represented at the meeting voted against the plan, under which they receive $9.50 per old share. At that time, Post officials explained the stock's book value (the value of stated assets divided by shares) was $9.24. The $9.50 offer was 14.8 times the average earnings of 67 cents a share over the last two years.

Attorney David Keyser of Shorewood, leader of the dissent, put together enough scrip for four shares of the new stock and Irene Huber of Fond du Lac, one share. Post owns the other 995 shares.

Bill Requires Notice On Utility Facilities

A bill requiring public utilities to give newspaper notice of consideration of the construction of new facilities in unincorporated areas has passed the Illinois Senate 49-0.

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D, Edwardsville) said the measure exempts telephone companies. It would provide at least 20 days notice prior to the date of the hearing upon a company's application before the Illinois Commerce Commission. It would affect such utilities as cross-country transmission lines or gas pipelines.

"Farm landowners are undoubtedly the most vulnerable group of landowners to the detrimental effects of public utility construction," he said. "Construction of facilities by public utilities such as the large steel towers on transmission lines can create serious hardships and inconveniences to farmers in their farming operations."

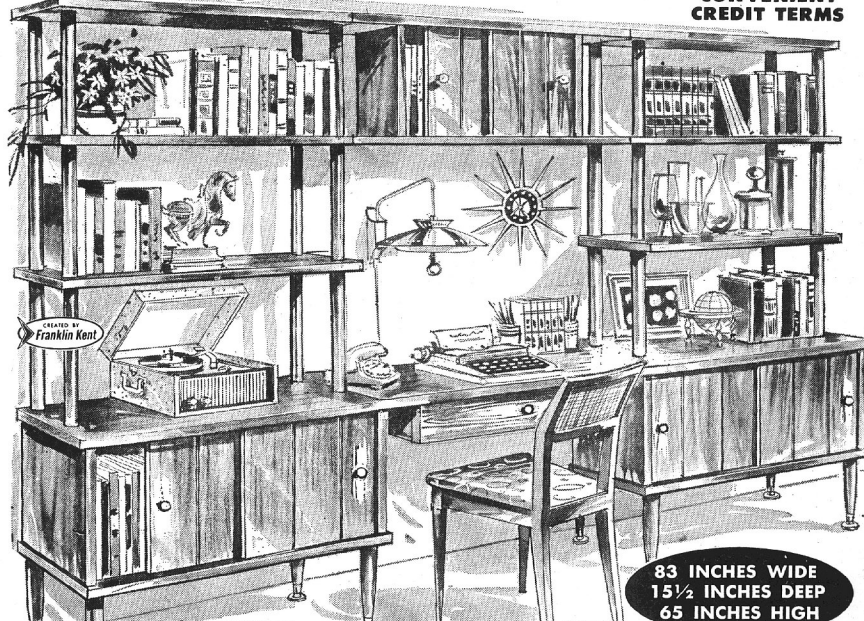

"The towers often pass over the land at odd angles through the middle of fields. Presently, the landowner has no opportunity to be heard before the ICC regarding the proposed location of such construction."

The bill requires notice by publication in one or more newspapers of general circulation published in the area affected by the proposed construction. It now goes to the Illinois House for consideration.
